ANOTHER ZEPPELIN BAGGED BY BRITISH

GERMANS LOST BIG AIRSHIP; ANOTHER DRIVEN AWAY FROM LONDON; TEN CRAFT IN RAID

Attacked by Guns and Aeroplanes, Zeppelin Fell in Flames North of the Metropolis; Eight Machines Wandered Aimlessly Over Eastern Counties; Raid Was Complete Failure

London, Oct. 2.—Ten zeppelins took part in the raid made over England last night. Two of them attempted to attack London. One was driven away and the other was destroyed.

An official account of the raid issued to-day follows:

"Ten German airships crossed the east coast last night between 9 o'clock and midnight.

"One airship approached the north of London at about 10 p.m., but was driven off by gunfire and pursued by aeroplanes. She attempted to return from the northwest, but was attacked by guns and aeroplanes and brought to earth in flames near Potter's Bar shortly before midnight.

"A second airship attempted to attack London from the northeast and was driven off. Bombs were dropped. No reports of casualties or damage have been received as yet.

"The remaining airships wandered aimlessly over the eastern counties. In Lincolnshire bombs were dropped promiscuously, most of them in open country, without doing damage."

Four zeppelin raids on London and the east coast of England have been carried out in the last month, the more recent attacks being made by airships of the newer and bigger type.

On Sept. 2 one zeppelin was struck while flying over the London district and fell in flames. Two zeppelins were destroyed in the raid of Sept. 23. On that occasion the raiders killed 38 persons and wounded 125. The following night in another raid in which the airships apparently escaped without damage, they killed 26 persons and wounded 27. In the raid of Sept. 2 only 2 persons suffered death and 13 were injured.

NEGOTIATIONS AT ATHENS NEAR END

Reported Constantine Has Made Military Plans With Entente Representatives

Athens, Oct. 1, via London, Oct. 2.—The negotiations between Greece and the entente powers are believed in circles close to King Constantine to be nearing completion, and it is even asserted in some quarters that a military accord already has been secretly reached, but is being kept secret pending arrangement, but acts as in the case of Roumania. The refusal of the entente to recognize the Kalogeropoulos ministry has been hampering the negotiations and helping to confuse the situation. The negotiations of the entente representatives so far have been direct with King Constantine, and are not technically official negotiations.

BRITISH HOLDING GAINS NEAR STRUMA

Beat Off Bulgarians With Heavy Losses When They Attacked

TWO VILLAGES ON THE GROUND TAKEN

London, Oct. 2.—"The portions of the Bulgarian line on the Struma front which we captured on Sept. 30, include the villages of Kara Zakoibala and Kara Zakoizar," says an offical report on operations on the front in Greek Macedonia issued to-day:

"Repeated enemy counter attacks against the places were entirely unsuccessful and were beaten off with heavy loss. All the ground won has been consolidated. There is no sign of the enemy for some distance in front of our trenches.

"In addition to the heavy casualties inflicted on the enemy, the number of prisoners taken has been increased to 250. Our casualties were comparatively small. Three machine guns were captured."

CANADIANS TO FRANCE.

London, Oct. 2.—The following Canadian officers have gone to France: Lieutenants M. E. Clements, Brandon; G. W. Epton, Winnipeg; Edward Baldwin and C. F. Gilford, Calgary; J. Esslemont, British Columbia; R. G. Pitman and E. M. Holiday, Alberta.

AFTER TAKING KAIMAKCALAN HEIGHT SERBIAN FORCES MOVED NORTHWARD; BULGARIAN TROOPS FLED IN PANIC

King Peter's Men Took High Ground in Brilliant Attack and Quickly Followed Up Their Advantage; Recovered Two French Guns, War Office at Paris Announces

Paris, Oct. 2.—Following up the advantage gained over the Bulgarians at the Kaimakcalan height, near the western end of the front in Greek Macedonia, Serbian troops advanced one and one-quarter miles north of the height and occupied the village of Kotchovie, the war office announced this afternoon.

Bulgarian troops made a counter-attack on the positions newly won by British forces on the left bank of the Struma, but were repulsed, leaving many dead on the field.

The text of the statement follows:

"On the left bank of the Struma British troops repulsed several counter-attacks delivered by Bulgarian forces against the new positions captured by our allies on September 30. Swept by a curtain of fire and by machine guns, the waves of the enemy's assaulting columns scattered and many bodies remain on the field.

"East of the Cerna Serbian forces, pursuing the advantage gained yesterday, advanced two kilometres to the north of the Kaimakcalan height. In addition to a battery taken by the Serbians, two French guns which had been lost during violent Bulgarian attacks on September 28 and 29, were retaken. Fifty additional prisoners were captured by the Serbians in this region."

Germans Admit Loss.

Berlin, Oct. 2.—The capture by the Serbians of the Kaimakcalan height, near the western end of the Macedonian front, for possession of which heavy fighting between Serbian and the Bulgarian forces had been in progress for some time, was announced by the war office last night in the following statement:

"At many points between Presby lake and the Vardar river there were spirited artillery engagements. An isolated attack undertaken by the enemy was stopped.

"By a strong attack the enemy captured the summit of Kaimakcalan."

London, Oct. 2.—Serbian forces on Saturday gained an important success at the Kaimakcalan height, near the west end of the front in Greek Macedonia, says a Reuter dispatch from Salonica. After violent artillery preparation, which caused frightful havoc in the ranks of the Bulgarians, the Serbian infantry executed a brilliant attack, capturing all the remaining points of this position.

The ground was covered with dead Bulgarians and the survivors fled panic-stricken.

The Serbian advance continues, the dispatch adds.

A GERMAN CAPTIVE BALLOON DESTROYED BY FRENCH AVIATOR

Paris, Oct. 2.—On official statement issued to-day says:

"Adjutant Bloch brought down a German captive balloon at a point to the east of Bapaume. This is the fifth balloon brought down up to the present time by this aviator."

BOURASSA ATTACKS LAURIER'S LOYALTY

Another Outburst of Raving by the Nationalist Agitator Against Liberal Chieftain

Montreal, Oct. 2.—Henri Bourassa, speaking at Nicolet yesterday in connection with the "farewell" of Paul Emile Lamarche, Conservative, who has resigned his seat in the House of Commons because the term of five years for which he was elected has expired, attacked Sir Wilfrid Laurier for Sir Wilfrid's patriotism and loyalty to the British empire. Mr. Bourassa referred to the Liberal chieftain as "the most nefarious man this province has ever had." The attack was received in silence by the gathering, about 5,000 people.

Mr. Bourassa said:

"I respect the white hair of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, but he has no right to take advantage of his white hair to forget the past."

By this Mr. Bourassa meant that Sir Wilfrid, in 1870, when only 29 years of age, failed to take up a rifle in behalf of France, because the British policy at that time was "to have France crushed."

"Then, as now, he was ready for English slavery," said Mr. Bourassa.

The Nationalist leader was given a generally good reception, except when he referred to Sir Wilfrid. Then his words were listened to in silence.

His Creed.

The Nationalist agitator did not confine his attacks to Liberals. Conservative policies and Conservatives came in for heavy artillery attacks. He also propounded his well-known theory "that it is for England to fight in all parts of the world where, by her rapine and cupidity, she comes into conflict with other nations of Europe; and we, for our part, have to defend our portion of the empire, which is Canada."

The resignation of Mr. Lamarche was referred to as setting an example the consequences of which would go further than understood at present.

"It is a protest against brutal force; and secondly, what is perhaps more interesting, a protest against the servility in having the imperial parliament insert an amendment in the Canadian constitution."

Mr. Bourassa saw in this amendment extending the life of the Canadian parliament a grave future danger to Canada, for it created a precedent that might strike the constitution at its very roots, "to the danger of Canadian liberty, a change perhaps in the constitution of Quebec, and a loss of rights to the French-Canadian minority in the provinces, for which their forefathers shed their blood."

ONE GERMAN WRITER REALIZES ZEPPELINS ARE BOUND TO FAIL

Amsterdam, Oct. 2.—The military critic of the Frankfurter Zeitung says conditions for zeppelin attacks on England are much more difficult than a year ago. The British, he says, have had time to carry their defence measures to the highest perfection.

Greek Cabinet Has Resigned, According to Athens Dispatch

London, Oct. 2.—The Greek cabinet, of which M. Kalogeropoulos is head, has resigned, according to a Central News dispatch from Athens.

SPLENDID DISPLAY OF HOME PRODUCTS

Exhibition at Hudson's Bay Building Credit to Manufacturers

FORMAL OPENING TOOK PLACE THIS AFTERNOON

PROGRAMME AT FAIR

This evening—Entertainment under auspices of 50th Gordon Highlanders.

To-morrow — "Citizens' Day." Addresses at 3 p. m. by Mrs. J. C. Kemp and Mrs. Ralph Smith, president and vice-president of the B. C. Consumers League. Entertainments in the evening at 8 and 9 o'clock.

The Home Products fair was opened this afternoon with all the eclat and display which such an important occasion demands, and to those who have seen the exhibit it is a revelation. There never was anything equal to it in the city in the way of industrial display. Practically every industry in Victoria and district is represented and the result is a display that no one in the city should miss seeing.

Nearly seventy manufacturers in and around Victoria are represented at the exhibition and not only are their wares shown to advantage, but the whole scheme is so picturesque and attractive that it is worth a visit to see the display.

The whole end and aim of the exhibition is to bring the producer and the consumer close together and this is bound to be one of the great results of the fair. There has been a great tendency of late to encourage the use of home produce and this fair, more than anything else, should have the effect desired.

The fair will be the social centre throughout the week. Ladies will entertain their friends at the tea-rooms and gatherings of all sorts will be arranged which will make it not only a place where people will go to be educated in the matter of buying at home, but also where people will meet people and will be entertained.

The little theatre inside the building is one of the centres of attraction. Nearly all the time there is something going on there. The vaudeville stunts are not the least among the attractions and the lectures will prove very instructive and attractive.

GERMANS ARE MAKING NORWEGIANS SUFFER

Have Sunk Vessels Worth $9,000,000 Since August; in Arctic Ocean

Christiania, Oct. 2.—A German submarine has made its way into the Arctic Ocean and has torpedoed three Norwegian steamships there.

The vessels torpedoed were the Sinsen, Ravn and Rolf Jarl. The crews were saved. Steamship traffic over the regular route covering the northern Norwegian towns has been stopped.

The Sinsen's gross tonnage was 1,925 and that of the Rolf Jarl 1,265. There are listed three Norwegian steamships Ravn, all of them under 1,300 tons.

The purpose of the German submarine operations probably is to interfere with the transportation of war material to Russia.

Since August the Germans have sunk Norwegian vessels valued at $9,000,000.

London, Oct. 2.—The British schooners William George, 151 tons, and Pearl of Truro, 144 tons, and the Norwegian schooner Manuel, of Tonsberg, have been sunk.

HOLDING EAUCOURT L'ABBAYE, BRITISH ONLY THREE MILES FROM THE TOWN OF BAPAUME

Haig's Troops Moved Forward on Front Extending 3,000 Yards Eastward From Albert-Bapaume Road; Gains Made in Thiepval Region; French Troops Took a Trench Near Bouchavesnes

London, Oct. 2.—The centre of the British army between the Ancre and Somme rivers in France advanced yesterday on a front of nearly two miles from a point east of Eaucourt l'Abbaye to the Albert-Bapaume road, capturing in the operation the village of Eaucourt l'Abbaye and throwing the line to within about three miles of Bapaume itself.

In addition the British line to the east was sent forward by good gains. Valuable work was done by the new armored motor cars in the fighting.

The gains were announced in an official report issued last night, the text of which follows:

"This afternoon, south of the Ancre, our centre attacked and captured the whole of its objective on a front of 3,000 yards from a point east of Eaucourt l'Abbaye to the Albert-Bapaume road, northeast of the Destremont farm. The village of Eaucourt l'Abbaye is reported to be in our hands.

"Farther east we pushed our outposts well beyond the original front line. More than 300 prisoners already have been taken, and are losses up to the present are small.

Tanks at Work.

"In this action the new armored cars did valuable work in clearing the enemy trenches behind the infantry advance.

"The village of Transloy (northeast of Lesboeufs and north of Morval) was effectively bombarded by our artillery and an ammunition depot blown up.

26,735 Prisoners.

"Since September 18 we have taken between the Ancre and the Somme 24 field guns, three field howitzers and three heavy howitzers.

"From July 1 to September 30 in the same area we made prisoners 589 officers and 26,147 men."

The following official statement was issued this afternoon:

"During the night our troops south of the Ancre beat off an enemy attack on our advanced positions east of Eaucourt l'Abbaye. We have now established our front in that area and have cleared the buildings of Eaucourt l'Abbaye of the enemy.

In Thiepval Region.

"Farther west during the night we also established our lines from a point 1,200 yards north of Courcelette in the direction of the Hessian trench. An enemy counter-attack forced us to relinquish a portion of the Regina trench which we had regained father north. This area has seen stubborn fighting during the past twenty-four hours."

Gain by French.

Paris, Oct. 2.—The war office announced this afternoon that French troops captured a trench and prisoners last night in a local operation east of Bouchavesnes, north of the Somme.

RUSSIANS NOW ARE DRIVING ON LEMBERG

Repulsed Strong Counter-Attacks Made by Austrian Forces Yesterday

TOTAL OF PRISONERS STILL MOUNTING UP

Petrograd, Oct. 2.—Austrian forces made heavy counter-attacks yesterday in an attempt to regain the ground lost in the new Russian drive on Lemberg. The war office announced to-day that the attacks were repulsed. One thousand six hundred prisoners were taken.

This fighting occurred on the front southeast of Lemberg, where heavy engagements are still in progress. The text of the statement follows:

"On the western front, in the region of the river Narayuvka, and on the heights on the right bank of the river Zlota Lipa, stubborn fighting is continuing. The enemy initiated counter-attacks, which were repulsed. He left in our hands 1,600 of the rank and file. With the Austrians captured were also Turks and Germans.

"On the river Bystritza the total number of prisoners taken by that section of General Letchitzky's army during the battle from September 19 to September 28 inclusive is 13 officers and 2,596 of the rank and file. The war booty captured during the same period amounts to four cannon, 13 machine guns, two mine throwers, one trench mortar, 75 shells and hand grenades, 100 cases of machine gun belts and several thousand rifles."

GEN. DANGLIS JOINS VENIZELOS AND COUNDOURIOTIS; GREEK PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT BECOMES TRIUMVIRATE

Athens, Oct. 1, via London, Oct. 2.—The official gazette of the provisional government publishes a decree signed by M. Venizelos and Vice-Admiral Coundouriotis "by the virtue of the power vested in them by the popular decree of Sept. 26," naming General Panyotis Danglis, the former minister of war, as the third member of the triumvirate heading the provisional government.

The island of Tenedos has joined in the revolutionary movement.

On Entente Cruiser.

Athens, Oct. 1, via London, Oct. 2.—General Danglis, former war minister and former chief of the general staff, left Piraeus to-day aboard an entente cruiser to join M. Venizelos.

Demonstrations against ex-Premier Venizelos are reported to have occurred at Nauplia. They ended in rioting, the prefect being forced to flee.

Join Revolutionists.

Athens, Oct. 2.—Forty-five policemen, cadets and soldiers who were desirous of joining the revolutionists at Salonica, went to the French legation on Saturday. Jean Guillemin, the French minister, supplied for them an armed escort from the marines guarding the French legation.

Rioting Occured.

Athens, Oct. 1, via London, Oct. 2.—Rioting is reported on the Greek island of Zante between reservists and followers of former Premier Venizelos.

Constaptine Busy.

Piraeus, Oct. 1, via London, Oct. 2.—King Constantine has appointed new commanders of the battleships Kilkis, formerly the U. S. S. Ohio, and Averoff, owing to the Venizelist leanings of the previous commanders of these ships.

ENTIRE CREW OF ZEPPELIN BURNED; CRAFT DESTROYED BEFORE IT COULD GET BY OUTER DEFENCES OF LONDON

London, Oct. 2.—Except for part of the envelope, there is left hardly a vestige recognizable as part of the huge German airship which was brought down in flames last night near Potter's Bar. The zeppelin burned more fiercely than the ones previously destroyed, and fortunately fell in an open field.

The members of the crew were incinerated and the bodies were scattered over the field on which the airship alighted, some 80 yards from a farmer's cottage.

The zeppelin appeared to remain almost stationary in the air for three minutes after the envelope burst into flames. The tongues of fire seemed to lick along the bag until it was all ablaze. Even then it dropped so slowly that many persons who had not awakened until the cheering aroused them were able to reach their windows in time to see it fall.

Neither the airship which was destroyed nor the second one which attacked London succeeded in penetrating the outer defences of the capital.

Little or no damage was done by either of them or by the eight others which operated over the eastern counties.

Although the zeppelin crashed to earth almost due north of London, the spectacle was witnessed by hundreds of Londoners, who showed their satisfaction by loud cheering.

Count Zeppelin had intended to take part in the raid, says the Amsterdam correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company, but a message sent to Germany elicited the information that at the last moment, owing to the persuasion of his family, he decided not to join the raiders.

CRUSHING REVOLT IN DUTCH EAST INDIES

Troops Have Got Upper Hand, Says Statement Issued at Hague

The Hague, Oct. 2.—The rebellion in the Dutch East Indies is being quelled, according to official dispatches received by the government. The rebels in the district near Mocaratebi have surrendered. Three brigades of infantry inflicted serious losses on a rebel force near Zemabce on Sept. 26.

A dispatch to London on August 29 reported riots in the Jambi district of Sumatra. At one place, the dispatch said, the administrator and twenty police had been killed. On Sept. 5 an official statement issued at The Hague stated that the rebellion was spreading and that several towns had been sacked.

REGINA CASE.

BRITISH GOT GROUND IN THIEPVAL REGION

Also Between Flers and Le Sars; Gains Made by French Troops

London, Oct. 2.—The following official statement was issued yesterday afternoon:

"During the night some progress was made between Flers and Le Sars, north of the Somme. There was heavy shelling in that neighborhood and also around Gueudécourt.

"In the Thiepval area the enemy was driven out of the ground he held near the Stuff redoubt. We increased our gains at the Schawben redoubt, only a small portion remaining untaken.

"Sixteen surprise attacks were successfully carried out last night on our front between Ypres and Neuve Chapelle. A number of prisoners were taken and much loss was inflicted on the enemy.

"A captured German army order, dated Sept. 21, emphasizes the importance at that time of the position at Lesbouefs (north of the Somme) as 'the last protection of the artillery, which must in no circumstances be lost.' We captured this position a few days afterward."

The following official report was issued last night:

"On Saturday two aeroplanes were successfully bombed by our aeroplanes, and at least one machine was destroyed. In the fighting over this front four enemy machines were brought down. One of our machines is missing.

"Enemy troops and transports were repeatedly attacked from the air with machine guns, and in one instance several hundred infantry were dispersed.

Gains by Frencah.

Paris, Oct. 2.—In fighting at close quarters north of the Somme on Saturday night, French troops pushed forward their lines near Morval and Clery, it was announced officially yesterday afternoon.

Elsewhere on the front there was intermittent cannonading.

The following official statement was issued last night:

"On the Somme front we carried out during the day some small operations which enabled us to capture trench elements north of Rancourt and southeast of Morval. There was reciprocal shelling at different points along the front, especially violent south of the Somme.

"In the Champaign region, in the district south of Butte-de-Mesnil, the enemy attempted two sudden attacks after lively bombardments. Our curtain of fire immediately checked one attempt, and the other, west of Tahure, also failed.

GAINS BY BRITISH EAST OF THE STRUMA

Took Portion of Bulgarian Line; Position Captured by Serbians

London, Oct. 2.—An official communication dealing with the fighting in Greek Macedonia issued yesterday said that on the Struma front British troops had taken possession of a portion of the Bulgarian line. Six counter-attacks were broken up.

The text of the statement follows:

"Doiran front—Our artillery has been active.

"On the Struma front, below the Orljak bridge, our troops took possession of a portion of the Bulgarian line.

"After stubborn fighting and heavy artillery preparation, our gains were extended during the evening. Six counter-attacks were successfully broken up during the day. A hundred prisoners already have been counted.

"The fighting continues."

French Report.

Paris, Oct. 2.—The following official statement on operations on the front in Greek Macedonia was issued last night:

"On the left bank of the Struma, British troops, after strong artillery preparation, captured by a brilliant assault two fortified villages near the Seres road. Several hundred prisoners, including 200 unwounded, fell into their hands.

"In the region of the Kalmakcalan Height Serbian troops attacked heights which were strongly held by Bulgarian troops. Gallantly her allies mastered the enemy, who was forced to abandon the position, leaving numerous dead. The Serbians captured a Bulgarian battery."

SWISS AND GERMANS TO TRADE PRODUCTS

London, Oct. 2.—The trade agreement reached between Germany and Switzerland, says a Reuter dispatch, states that each country's own products, so far as they are not necessary for home consumption, may be exchanged. Germany is said to have pledged supplies of coal as well as quantities of iron and steel. Both parties have agreed to a speedy settlement of the question of export permits.

The Swiss government has agreed to refrain from seizure or destruction of German goods stored in Switzerland, and has promised to release them after the cessation of hostilities. The agreement will expire after the end of April, 1917.

GEN. BRUSILOFF IS DRIVING FOR LEMBERG

Gains Made Northeast and Southeast of City; 4,367 Prisoners Taken

Petrograd, Oct. 2.—The following official statement was issued yesterday afternoon:

"In the region south of Riga, a German aeroplane, hit by our artillery, fell into the enemy lines.

"In the neighborhood of the Brody-Krasne railway line (Krasne is 30 miles northeast of Lemberg) and to the south thereof, fighting is taking place, our troops forcing their way forward. The enemy is offering stubborn resistance. We captured there 59 officers and 1,928 men.

"Fighting is proceeding in our favor south of Brzezany (50 miles southeast of Lemberg), on the Tseniuvka river and in the region of the heights on the right bank of the Zlota-Lipa. There we captured part of the enemy positions by assault, taking 112 officers and 2,268 men. We also captured several machine guns. Enemy counter-attacks during the night were frustrated by our fire.

"In the same region an aerial encounter with a German machine took place, and the enemy was forced to descend sharply close to his own lines.

"On the Caucasian front there were no developments."

All Along Line.

Petrograd, Oct. 2.—The struggle along the entire southwestern Russian front continues with undiminished intensity, but without salient episodes or changes in the general situation. The Germans are piling up reserves in the neighborhood of Vladimir-Volynski, where they are trying desperately to wrest the initiative from General Brusiloff's armies. But, according to the accounts of observers, despite the considerable forces the Germans are no longer able to spare enough men to deliver the old-time smashing blows.

There also has been renewed activity near Halicz, which still rests in Austro-German hands. The town, however, is under the fire of Russian guns. There, as farther north, the Germans are struggling to launch a successful offensive which thus far has always been defeated in its preliminary stages by Russian counter-attacks.

A striking improvement has been noticeable recently in the Russian aviation service. In addition to raids officially reported, Russian aviators have executed a number of attacks behind the German lines on the southwestern front and have bombed stations and stores.

German Admission.

Berlin, Oct. 2.—The Russians have assumed the offensive once more, striking with great force above and below Lemberg. Southeast of the Galician capital they gained a foothold in Austro-German positions, the war office announced yesterday.

Austrian Admissions.

Vienna, Oct. 2.—The following official statement was issued last evening.

"Front of Archduke Charles Francis—The fighting in the Carpathians is slackening.

"Southwest and south of Brzezany (southeast of Lemberg) the enemy attacked with strong forces the Turkish troops operating between the Zlota Lipa and the Poturoy railway station. The Russians gained some metres of ground.

"Front of Prince Leopold—Opposite General Boehm-Ermolli's army Russian forces attacked our positions north of the road fro mBrody to Zlochoff, but the road from Brody to Zlochoff, but at another seven attacks were shattered. South of the road the enemy penetrated the sector of one regiment. A counter-attack begun early to-day is progressing favorably and has regained the greater part of the lost trenches.

ANNOUNCED BY ROME ITALIANS GAINED IN TRAVENANZES VALLEY

Rome, Oct. 2.—"In the Travenanzes valley of the Upper Boite, Italian Alpine troops drove out enemy detachments on the southeastern slopes of Mone Lagazur and of Pizzo di Fanis," said an official announcement issued last evening. "In his flight the enemy left a large amount of war material and some prisoners in our hands."

"On the Julian front there were only intermittent artillery actions.

"Enemy batteries bombarded Merna and Vertoiba. A few shells also fell on Gorizia."

Vienna, Oct. 2.—The following official statemen twas issued last evening:

"Italian artillery again is directing a very heavy fire against our positions on the Carso plateau which has extended to our lines in the Vippaco valley.

"In the southeastern theatre there is nothing to report."

A GOOD START.

The week opens favorably for the allies on three fronts and in the air. The British have advanced on a front of three thousand yards north of the Albert Range and have taken the village of Eaucourt l'Abbaye, which brings them within three and a half miles of Bapaume. The French have made successful attacks east of Bouchavesnes and north of Rancourt. These are all local movements preliminary to the next important operation on a wide front which will be undertaken within a few days. It is obvious that the allies can overcome the enemy's resistance at any point within striking distance of their present lines whenever they make a serious effort to do so, for the Germans must now rely upon hastily constructed field-works which the British and French artillery speedily demolishes.

On the east front the Russians are attacking strongly northeast and southeast of Lemberg. In the first sector they are trying to advance along the Brody-Lemberg railroad and are meeting with tough resistance from the German, Austrian and Turkish forces concentrated there to bar the road to the Galician capital. Southeast of Lemberg Brusiloff is striking on the right bank of the Zlota Lipa river, and Petrograd claims and Berlin admits the loss of an Austrian position. The chief Russian objective there is still Halicz, described as the southern key to Lemberg, and the Russians are bound to have it.

An important success has been gained by the Serbians on the Macedonian front. The heavy fighting which has been in progress for the possession of the Kaimalcalan heights north of Ostrovo Lake, and on the western end of the allies' line, has ended in the capture of the whole position by the Serbians. This has been a noteworthy struggle. The Bulgars attached great importance to the possession of the position, which at one point reaches a height of 8,258 feet, and it was considered by them to be an effectual barrier to a Serbian advance from Florina to Monastir along the railroad. The Serbians gained a strong footing on the heights some weeks ago, but were unable to make further headway in the face of the strong counter-attacks launched against them by the Bulgars reinforced by reserves after their earlier reverses. A few days ago Sofia announced that the Bulgars had won a "complete victory" with the Serbians in full retreat and the Bulgarian army in hot pursuit. We now learn that the Serbs are in possession of the whole position as well as the guns with which it was fortified; they have advanced a mile and a quarter north of it and are still moving forward on the trail of the "victorious" Bulgars. The capture of Kaimalcalan heights means that the allies will now be able to press along the railroad from Florina towards Monastir. Sofia has been very unhappy in its official announcements during the last few weeks. Its claims of "complete victory" invariably have been followed by severe reverses. The official communication announcing the "most decisive victory of the war" in the Dobrudja was still warm when von Mackensen's army was in full retreat from the Danube-Constanza line.

The destruction of another Zeppelin in London district is a fourth reminder in a month to the Huns that baby-killing in that quarter is a very expensive business and prompts the military critic of the Frankfurter Zeitung to remark that the defences of London have revealed a high state of perfection. The experience of the last few weeks must have taught the apostles of frightfulness that there is no branch of their war service more dangerous to themselves than the airship campaign against London. In percentage of casualties it is worse than Verdun. In the first raid about a month ago two airships got within range and one of them was destroyed. On the next occasion three Zeppelins ventured within the danger limit and two were brought down. Last week all escaped, but yesterday one out of two came down in flames. The average, therefore, is fifty per cent. The effect of these losses upon the morale of the officers and men of the Zeppelin service must be very pronounced, for nothing can surpass in horror the means by which the occupants of a doomed airship meet their death. They suffer the most acute combination of physical and mental anguish it is possible to imagine.

The effect of these disasters upon the German people generally will be distracting. They had pinned their hopes upon the destruction of London by Zeppelins, which they childlishly believed would bring the war to an end. They were encouraged in this belief by the government, which every week regaled them with grotesque reports of enormous military damage wrought by their airship squadrons on the soil of their hated enemy. According to these reports Dover and Portsmouth had been destroyed several times, while London was a continual furnace. The destruction of the first Zeppelin a month ago was overlooked in the jubilation over the imaginary damage done, but the loss of two in the next raid stunned them, according to Swiss reports. A Zeppelin means more to the average German than a dreadnought, and its loss is regretted more than the destruction of a ship of the line would be.

WHAT IS IT?

High officials think it unnecessary to make any formal statement on the subject, as they feel the American position is fully known both at home and abroad.—Washington Dispatch.

Nobody in the United States or out of it knows what the position of the government now is on the subject of German submarine warfare. Certainly so far it has been nothing but a series of retirement behind countless notes upon lines taken up only to be abandoned immediately Germany challenged them. First the world was assured that Washington stood as the champion of humanity irrespective of nationality. Then when Germany snapped her fingers at this there was a hasty retreat to another line, the championship of neutral rights. Germany at once defied this attitude by sinking neutral vessels without warning, whereupon Washington retired upon a third and much more restricted line, the championship of American lives and property. Germany already has penetrated this position in several places, and when she makes it altogether untenable, as she is bound to do, we shall behold, doubtless, a further retreat under the cover of the heavy fog raised by the note factory.

Germany's submarine warfare was affected no more by Washington notes than it would have been by a message from Timbuctoo. In September alone out of seventy-five allied and neutral vessels sunk, twenty-six were attacked without warning with the loss of fifteen non-combatant lives. This sort of thing will be continued until the British navy again has reduced the fleet of Hun submarines to limited proportions, when it will be stopped pending the construction of more underwater craft. The time is at hand, however, when European neutrals will take steps to protect their own interests from these outrages. All of them now realize that Germany is beaten and ultimately must collapse under the shower of blows rained upon her. With a few more German reverses on land they will be disposed to adopt more drastic means for their own protection than the submission of protests to Berlin.

INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES.

The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada adopted a resolution condemning the Lemieux industrial disputes act and requesting its repeal on the ground that it restricts the right of workmen employed in the industries affected by it to go on strike. The resolution will have very little sympathy from the general public, by whom the act in question is regarded as sound legislation in their interest. Indeed, among the chief criticisms against the law made by a large number is that it does not go far enough.

The Lemieux act was adopted for the purpose of facilitating the settlement of industrial disputes in connection with public utilities by investigation and conciliation. It prohibits a lockout or strike before the matter in dispute has been referred to a board of arbitration and pending its investigation by that body. It does not provide means for the enforcement of the board's award, leaving this to the pressure of public opinion. But it brings the disputants together under government auspices, enables them to air their grievances and paves the way for conciliatory efforts to settle the trouble.

The act has been successfully applied in a considerable number of instances; in other cases it has failed to bring about a settlement. But it is a reminder to both employer and employee in the utilities to which it applies that they are not the only parties to differences that may arise between them. Their disputes in those instances are very much the business of the general public, which may suffer severe hardship in consequence of them. This is particularly the case with labor troubles in coal mines and on railroads. The employees on the railroads in the United States and their dependents constitute a very small fraction of the number whose interests would have been gravely compromised if the strike which was threatened a short time ago had gone into effect. Even as it was the bare threat of a break did infinitely more harm to the general public than it did to the railroads or their employees. A lockout or strike in a coal mine or on a railroad is the business of everybody who uses the railroads or depends upon the mines for coal, and it is the duty of the government, therefore, to investigate the situation fully and take every step consistent with fair-play to both interests directly involved to prevent a cessation of operations.

BRITAIN'S SUPREMACY.

Discussing German submarine activities, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer says:

"It is probable that as long as the war continues merchant shipping will be destroyed. In the thirty-one days of August 170,000 tons of allied shipping was sunk, a total much larger than the allies were capable of replacing during the same period. If this record is continued for another year, as it is likely to be, the mistress of the seas will have lost her title.

"In the circumstances the industry of American shipyards is no mystery. Instead of overbuilding, we are underbuilding. The carrying trade has passed from Germany and is passing from England to neutral carriers. Despite the utmost industry of existing yards the end of the war will find commerce handicapped by a scarcity of merchant ships."

This is typical of the total lack of understanding of Britain's shipbuilding capacity and the real basis of her shipping ascendancy shown by a considerable number of American newspapers these days. The British mercantile marine is larger to-day than it was when the war started. Notwithstanding the fact that during the first eighteen months of the struggle the dockyards and shipping plants for the most part were engaged on naval work, more ships have been launched than the Germans have destroyed. Since the establishment of a naval superiority which is nearer four to one than two to one over Germany, the yards have given more attention to merchant shipping, and the net gain in tonnage at the end of this year will surprise the world. Even the merchant marine of France at this moment is greater than it has been at any other time in the history of the republic. Our contemporary overlooks the very important fact that a considerable number of the vessels destroyed are German ships seized by the allies. It also seems to forget that what is left of Germany's mercantile marine will be used by the allies to replace their own ships sunk by German submarines.

But the supremacy of Britain's merchant shipping is not due to the tonnage on the seas, but to the shipbuilding capacity of the kingdom. British yards can easily turn out more ships than all the other shipbuilding plants of the world together. If the end of the war found Great Britain without a solitary merchant ship, in a very short time she could outstrip the merchant navies of all her rivals. In one yard alone she can build more ships in a year than all the yards in the United States combined, and she has scores of them. The British are a maritime people. The sea is their natural element. Not only can they build more quickly and more cheaply than nations which must pay tribute to the highly-protected trusts for their raw material, but they can operate them more economically and efficiently. Nothing has occurred in history to establish so strikingly the overwhelming maritime supremacy of Great Britain on the sea and in her yards as this war.

The Hun chancellor in his straflings always maintains that England contemplates the ruin of Germany. Germany actually has accomplished the ruin of Belgium and contemplated the ruin of France, but the Hun in his madness cannot see himself as others see him. He said when pondering over the possibility of trumping up an excuse for beginning the war that "Germany must have her place in the sun." She is going to get it, but she is not going to take it at the expense of weaker nations.

Once an idea permeates the thick skull of a Hun it may be considered a fixture. Hence the futile attempts to "invade England" by means of Zeppelins. But submarines having failed and the navy proving a broken reed, the airship is all the All-Highest has left, and it is at the maximum point of "efficiency," he thinks.

Will the latest Zeppelin raid upon England receive official sanction to be celebrated as another great victory?

For the present Zeppelin hunting as a British sport has foxhunting "beaten to a frazzle."

Talk about political chaos, what about the state of Greece?

Home Product Week
October 2 to 7

THIS is "Victoria Home Products Week" and special efforts are being made to bring before the public in a concrete way the many manufacturies of Victoria and the importance of patronizing "Home Products" first.

This store therefore takes the opportunity of emphasizing many departments—the merchandise of which is "Made in Victoria."

Special window displays will be made of these goods throughout the week—at the same time we shall also display "The very newest creations in Fall Fashions."

These displays in themselves will be a great attraction, and at the same time will emphasize very strongly the premier position this big merchandise house holds in supplying at all times "the best at the most reasonable prices."

Spencer's All Pure White Felt Mattresses Are Made in Victoria and Fully Guaranteed

Every Felt Mattress we sell is fully guaranteed to our customers because only the best grades of cotton are used in their manufacture. We show our customers at all times the quality of the filling used, and we guarantee the filling to be of the same grade all through.

All Spencer Felt Mattresses are made on the same principle—no matter what price you pay. The cotton is machined on especially constructed cards which purifies and cleans the cotton to a high standard—leaving it buoyant and elastic in large sheets, which are built up, layer upon layer. These sheets when ready are compressed to the required thickness—making the mattress soft, yet firm, so that it will sustain the body comfortably at every point of contact—thus giving the maximum of comfort and restfulness.

Throughout "Home Product Week" we will make a special effort to make our Felt Mattress and Bedding Department more widely known, by offering—in addition to our regular grades—the

Three Following Specials

These we have made up exactly on the same principle as our regular grades, and we offer them at very special introductory prices for one week.

Spencer's "Perfection" Mattress is filled from selected white felt, closely stitched and tufted, in heavy art ticking. A Mattress that is guaranteed not to mat or get lumpy. We consider this one of the finest quality Felt Mattresses made. Full size. Regular $16.50 value.
Special Home Product Week $13.25

Spencer's "Majestic" Mattress is made on the same principle as the "Perfection," but a little thinner and a different grade tick. A regular $14.00 grade.
Special Home Product Week $10.90

Spencer's "Royal" Felt Mattress is a grade usually sold at $9.00. This Mattress will prove in wear and service most satisfactory. It is made to meet the needs of those who want a good Mattress at small cost. Special for Home Product Week $7.90

The subject is an important one, about which the majority of citizens are happily ignorant.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Times, Oct. 2, 1891.

Messrs. Thorpe & Company, of Vancouver, manufacturers of soda water, syrups, etc., have opened a branch establishment here. Mr. F. H. Price, a member of the firm, has taken charge of the Victoria branch.

H. M. Wright, of Seattle, has returned from London, Eng., having succeeded in floating a company to work a valuable deposit of cement on the west coast of the island.

Mr. S. J. Randall, master mechanic of the Moodyville sawmills, was in town yesterday superintending the tests for a battery of three steel boilers just built by the Albion Iron Works for the mills.

ALEXANDER WATCHMAN IS VICE-PRESIDENT

Re-elected at Session of Dominion Trades and Labor Congress

Alexander Watchman, of Victoria, re-elected vice-president at the closing session at Toronto on Saturday of the annual convention of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress. He was first elected at the Vancouver convention in 1915. He has been president of the British Columbia Federation of Labor and of the Victoria Trades and Labor Council. Mr. Watchman is associated with the organization of carpenters. He is a Scotsman, and lived for a considerable time at Regina before coming to the coast.

ALEXANDER WATCHMAN

The other officers elected on Saturday are: President, James C. Watters, Ottawa (acclamation); vice-presidents, James Simpson, Toronto; R. A. Rigg, M.P.P., Winnipeg; secretary-treasurer, P. M. Draper, Ottawa.

David Reese, Fernie, was elected fraternal delegate to the British labor conference.

After a spirited contest, Ottawa, was chosen for the convention of 1917.

Assize Courts Open.—The fall assize in Vancouver and Clinton opened this morning. There is a fairly heavy list of cases to be tried at Vancouver, but the list at Clinton is rather light.

Pheasant Shooting.—Yesterday several people went out hunting with the mistaken notion that pheasants could be legally killed. For the benefit of these and all who may purpose to hunt for birds, it has been pointed out that the pheasant shooting season commences on October 18, and that Hungarian Partridges may be killed only on November 17 and 18.

Victoria County Court.—The October term of the county court commenced this morning before Judge Lampman, when naturalization applications, judgment summonses and the setting of dates for trial of actions were disposed of. There were but two applications for naturalization this month, one that of a Japanese and the other a British subject readmitted from citizenship in the United States. One judgment debtor was committed to jail for ten days for failure to appear in response to the summons and explain why he does not pay the amount for which judgment has been obtained against him.

Police Report.—The police department report for September, as compiled by Jailer Hastings, is as follows: Assault, 5; army desertion, 1; city by-laws (infraction of), 6; drunks, 24; fighting, 2; Half-Holiday act 5; Motor act, 7; malicious damage to property, 1; Opium act, 27; possession of intoxicants, 3; supplying intoxicants to Indians, 1; safe-keeping, 89; unsound mind 1; and vagrancy, 3. There was a total of 85 cases in the police court, 76 convicted and 9 discharged. Fifteen accidents were reported during the month, 14 of which received "first aid" by the police department. The patrol wagon responded to 156 calls.

Board of Trade.—The council of the Board of Trade will meet on Friday next and on the following Friday the regular quarterly meeting will be held. Those having subjects which they wish to bring up for discussion at the quarterly meeting should communicate with the secretary in order that a syllabus may be arranged.

HOUSEHOLDERS BEGIN ANNUAL REGISTRATION

October Also Brings Round Taxes Notices Once More to City Ratepayers

October in municipal affairs stands usually for two things, the issuance of general tax notices and the annual registration of householders.

City Treasurer Smith commenced on Saturday the issuance of the general tax notices for the year, the rebate period closing November 30. The whole of the notices, upon which clerks have been at work for some weeks, will be issued to every land owner by the end of this week, giving practically two months in which to make the necessary payments.

Showing a commendable spirit, the first householder to apply for the municipal franchise in 1917 was outside the city assessor's office as it opened this morning, and immediately registered. Householders are invited to make their applications at once. They will be received throughout the month. The qualifications are a British subject, 21 years of age, who has lived in the city since January 1 last, paid taxes, or is exempt under the statutory provisions of age or connection with the militia.

Owing to the large number who have left the city and the men on active service, this form of franchise, which used to be so largely taken advantage of, is exercised by a decreasing number of people, still it is believed there are many entitled to vote who fail to register.

The city clerk has received a copy of the report of the Municipal Charities Commission of Los Angeles, which shows how much better that city handles its philanthropy than Victoria. It would surprise citizens to learn that a return of every levy in lodges, clubs, etc., for charity must be made there, as well as the usual institutions which have to account for their subscriptions according to a schedule laid down by a municipal ordinance.

It is understood that at the city council session this evening a confidental report will be presented from the city solicitor, advising in connection with the location for a stable on Blackwood street, which was fully discussed by aldermen on Friday. The powers of the city to regulate this class of building are defined by by-law, but the legislation has already been challenged in a lawsuit.

It is understood that the holding back of the quarterly subsidy by the department of education from the city, to which allusion was made on Saturday, will form the subject of a strong protest, which will be voiced at the meeting. City officials maintain that the department has absolutely no ground for the high-handed action taken.

CITY STORES BUILDING

Money Will Shortly Be to Hand for Purpose of Concentrating Stores.

Now that the surplus material authorized by the council to be sold to the highest bidder from the city stocks has been disposed of, a substantial cheque will be to hand in a few days, sufficient to build the storehouse at Garbally road yards, mentioned in the report of the efficiency committee some time ago, and also to provide another greatly needed improvement, a weigh scale at the yard.

The city some time ago put in a good public scale at the market yard, which is doing a useful duty, but it is pointed out that a scale within the yard grounds would have a great deal of time and would result in material purchased by the city being more frequently weighed for purposes of checking.

It was understood that the subject would be mentioned again in council before any expenditure was undertaken on the stores building. The need of it is very urgent, in order to complete the policy of concentration towards which the last two councils have been striving, hitherto with indifferent success, lacking the provision for housing the stock owned by the city. No private business controlling so much valuable material would take the chances with it that the city has, nor have it scattered in so many places, but the circumstances were against concentration in the past. Now that construction is limited and a system has been introduced into the engineering department, the value of a stores building would quickly repay the original outlay. It is estimated that a building at Garbally road, near the blacksmith's shop, would cost about $6,500, and as no provision was made in the estimates, it was necessary to raise the money in some other way.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Victoria Day Nursery Will Celebrate Third Anniversary To-morrow Afternoon; Donations Wanted.

A birthday party is being held to-morrow afternoon by the Victoria Day Nursery, 830 Quadra street. The event is in celebration of the founding of the home three years ago, and it is hoped that everyone interested in the little folk who are sheltered within the institution will remember the occasion and send or bring a present of some kind which will be useful in the work. Cash donations will be particularly welcome, also toys, groceries and provisions, but no clothing need be sent. The Victoria Day Nursery removed to its present quarters just about a year ago, the work having grown so considerably in the two years of its life that the little house on King's road became quite inadequate to the needs. The home is doing a much-needed work, and its proper support should appeal to the sympathies of a kind public. The party will be from 3 to 6, between which hours members of the committee will be present to welcome callers and show them over the institution.

Red Cross Society Taking Prominent Part in Providing Attractions

Each evening at the Home-Products Fair, which opened this afternoon in the Hudson's Bay building, there will be a complete change of programme, and visitors will find it well worth visiting the exhibition each day, if for no other reason than to drop in to one or other of the entertainment features which are to be provided.

The Red Cross will be well represented, the Victoria and some of the District headquarters having planned an efficient scheme of advertising the work which is so important and so interesting. The headquarters' work committee, of which Mrs. Harold Fleming is the convener, will conduct a work-room, arranged along the lines of the work-room in the Temple building, where the ladies have done such splendid work during the past eighteen months. The usual cutting-out and stitching processes will be demonstrated, and it is anticipated that the range of helpers will be increased through the handing out of needlework to volunteer applicants. The new comfort-bags which are being made for soldiers will also be shown.

There will also be a stall in charge of the Superfluities Branch of the Red Cross, and here "superfluities," which are being collected from every available source, will be sold for the benefit of the fund which has already so largely supplemented the exchequer of the Red Cross.

The Oak Bay branch of the Red Cross will be represented, having arranged to take charge of the tea-room and to charge for refreshments. Fortune-telling by teacup, cars, and the hand will be carried on in a booth which has been erected for the purpose. In their refreshment department they will serve also Pease's ice cream and soft drinks.

The Esquimalt Red Cross branch is undertaking quite an ambitious work. A number of the ladies will take charge of various stalls containing fancy work, home produce, candy, etc. An entertainment committee, of which Thos. Watson is convener, has charge, the 8 and 9 o'clock vaudeville entertainments which will be given each evening in the week, many of the best known entertainers of the coast having offered their services for the time. In addition to this the same branch of the Red Cross is showing the cougar which last week attacked two children near Cowichan Lake, and a working model of George Stevenson's first passenger locomotive which operated on the Stockton-Darlington railway in 1825. The model, which belongs to George McTavish, will be shown on a small model of the railway bridge near West Auckland.

The following is a summary of the week's programme:

Monday—Programme arranged under the auspices of the 50th Gordon Highlanders, some of the numbers in which will be: Piano solo, Pte. Moir; song, Bugler Sullivan; pipe selection, Miss Wallace; song, Pte. Moir; Highland dance, Drummer Nicol; song, Sergt. Matheson; Indian club-swinging display, Sergt. Gibson.

Tuesday, 3 p. m.—Meeting for the women of Victoria. Chairman, Mrs. Henry Croft. Addresses by Mrs. J. C. Kemp, president of the B. C. Consumers' League, Vancouver; and Mrs. Ralph Smith, vice-president of the same organization. Both ladies will refer especially to the part which their organization has taken in the stimulating of home industries on the mainland.

8 p. m.—Vaudeville entertainment. Miss Gladys Watson and her dancing nymphs, assisted by the Misses Elsie Dumbleton, Jerry Dumbleton, Billy Petticrew, May Cameron, Marjorie Hirst, Evelyn Christie, Margaret Gregg, Laura Rudge, Edith Williams, Marjorie Watson, George Swayne and Thomas Watson. Mrs. J. J. Boyd will have charge of the dance features of the programme.

Wednesday, 3 p. m.—Address by James Fullerton, of Eugene, Ore., an expert on fruit growing, who will speak of "What the Loganberry Can Do For Victoria." This address is expected to be one of the instructional features of the week, and a big attendance of fruit growers and agriculturists is anticipated.

8 p. m.—Vaudeville entertainment. Artists, L. D. McLean, sleight-of-hand performer, assisted by Harold Diggon, his "funny man," and one of the best comedians of the west; Danny Cann, a clever child violinist of Seattle; and the Dooleys, very well known Irish comedians and dancers.

Thursday, 3 p. m.—Address by John Arthur Nelson, representing the Dominion Education Films, Ltd., will speak of the value of the moving picture industry to Victoria. 8 p. m., vaudeville entertainment. Artists, Mrs. Brigdon, coster mimic; the Spaghetti Acrobats; and others.

Friday—Repetition of vaudeville entertainments in the evening.

Saturday—Children are to be admitted free of charge, and in the evening as well as the afternoon there will be special features for the entertainment of the young people.

Each day will have its special significance, and will be marked by features suited to the occasion. To-day is "Opening Day," Tuesday is "Citizens' Day," Wednesday is "Saanich Day," Thursday "Duncan and Ladysmith Day," Friday "Nanaimo Day," and Saturday "Children's Day."

Madame Zurika, of Esquimalt, will tell fortunes for fifty cents. Her booth will be in the gallery, and the proceeds of her forune-telling will go to the Red Cross. A feature in which the young people will be much interested is the monster birthday cake given by the Municipal Chapter, I. O. D. E., and contributions (which will be sold afterwards) of cups, vases, bric-a-brac, etc., should be sent to "Little Jack Horner's Cake Department."

INCREASING DIAMOND VALUES

We have received word from our London Agents that a pronounced increase in diamond prices this Fall is certain. A 50 per cent rise is thought probable. Many influences tend to bring this about. Greatly reduced output, export tax in South Africa, War Tax, depletion of Belgian stocks, discontinuance of cutting when Germany occupied Belgium, and heavy buying of American interests.

This misfortune which left us heavily overstocked when the depression came has turned into good fortune, as our large stock was in our hands before the increases commenced.

An orderly officer was asking for complaints. Up sprang a private and stated that he had not got his proper ration of butter. Officers, as a rule, don't like grumblers, and this particular orderly was no exception. He pointed to a mere "tick" of butter sticking to the private's boot, and said crushingly. "Of course, you haven't got your ration. There's half your butter sticking on your boot." "Correct, sir," admitted the private, looking down, "just half."

SEPTEMBER WEATHER

Abnormally Dry Conditions Recorded for Month Just Closed; High Sunshine Record.

September, like nearly every month which has preceded it this year, was abnormal, the precipitation for the thirty days being 1.31 in. below average. In this respect as well as in point of high temperatures it resembled August, although the shortening days were due for a shorter sunshine record than the month which preceded it. Rain fell on five days during the month, but even so the total precipitation amounted only to .35 in., which, placed against the average precipitation for the month, viz., 1.66 in., means that it was nearly one and a third-inch below average. The average rainfall for the month has been computed by careful observation and record over a period extending back to 1885, so that it is among the driest Septembers that have occurred for thirty-one years. In September, 1901, only .32 in. fell, however, and in 1890 the record for the month was .33, .02 in. less than during September of this year. In 1891 the September rainfall reached 4.27 in.

The highest temperature during the past month was within a few degrees of the highest temperature for any day in the year, being 79.7 degrees on September 15. The lowest was this morning. The minimum on the grass thermometer was 29.5. In point of sunshine the total number of hours recorded amounted to 250 hours 12 minutes. The average for September is 173 hours 30 minutes, so that the month exceeded this by 76 hours 42 minutes. The average daily sunshine for the month was 8 hours. The minimum September sunshine record was in 1896, when only 78 hours were recorded.

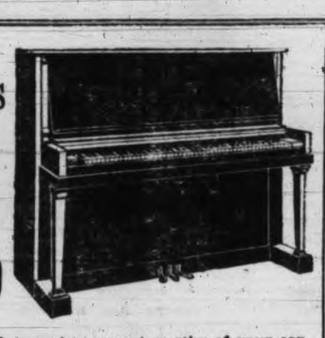
A seventeenth century observer brought home from a voyage a report of unusual spots in the sun. The spots, he said, seemed about "the size of a shilling," whereas it would take several suns to cover the surface of a shilling lying before one, within hand's reach. And so has everyone, ever since, talked of a moon the size of a plate, and so forth. All, of course, depends on the distance at which the comparing object is placed; and without the mention of that distance all such comparisons are vain.—London Chronicle.

THE WORLD'S BEST PIANOS

Are Here for Your Selection

And when you buy a Piano here you have the supreme satisfaction of knowing that a firm with a quarter of a century's record for integrity stands behind the instrument you select. In dealing with us your choice of a Piano embraces only instruments of prestige and standing. Only at this store can you buy such pianos as the great Steinway (New York), the Brinsmead (London), Gerhard Heintzman (Toronto), Nordheimer, Mendelssohn, Weber and many other famous instruments. At its price each represents genuine good value, and is sold with the guarantee of Fletcher Bros., Western Canada's Largest Music House.

Canada's Art Piano



Here, indeed, is an instrument worthy of your consideration. It is built on honest lines, with honest materials, by workmen experienced in the fine art of piano-making. In every case owners of

have been more than satisfied with the instrument. Its tone, sweet and pure when you buy it, grows richer and mellower with use. The action is the same superb action (with the latest refinements) that has held first place in the hearts of Canada's music lovers for over fifty years. The case architecture is rich and artistic: the newer models in Sheraton, Jacobean and Louis XV. styles being particularly graceful and pleasing.

Honored by the World's Masters

—The voluntary choice of eight out of every ten world-famous pianists and violinists—such as the esteem in which the Steinway Piano is held by the greatest musicians of our day.

The master work of four generations of Pianoforte builders—

may well be described as "a mechanical and artistic triumph." Whether in grand or upright form the tone of the Steinway is rich and powerful. The case architecture is dignified and artistic, and is finished with all the skill and craftsmanship that modern methods can command. These are but a few of the features that should weigh with you in your choice of a Piano. They are features that insure for every Steinway a lifetime's pleasure and enjoyment.

A Leader in Its Class

—And without a doubt one of the sweetest toned Pianos made in Canada to-day. The makers of these Pianos, while they are at pains to make the outside of each instrument beautiful, realize the greater importance of making the inside perfect. The prime purpose of a Piano is the production of musical sounds. The tone of is so full of sweetness, power, brilliance and richness that it has been called, and rightly so, the "Quality Tone Piano."

Nordheimer Pianos are very reasonably priced, and are to be seen in our Piano showrooms in both grand and upright styles.

A New Player Piano

—The result of several years' musical research and invention on the part of the famous Canadian firm of Piano builders, Gerhard Heintzman, Ltd. This new instrument—

The Gerhard Heintzman
All-Metal Action Player-Piano

embodies the only all-metal mechanism made in Canada. Other makers have used certain parts in metal, but have also used wood, leather and rubber where only seamless brass and copper are used in the Gerhard Heintzman.

Re-Creates All Forms of Music—

The New Edison Diamond-Disc Phonograph

To have in your own home, at your instant command, an instrument capable of actually re-creating all forms of music so perfectly that the re-creation is indistinguishable from the original—can you imagine any other instrument that will give you and your family so much enjoyment and pleasure? When we say that this instrument—the New Edison—"actually re-creates music," we mean it, absolutely. In tone, in quality, in naturalness, the music comes from the cabinet of the Edison exactly as it was created by the living artist.

You are welcome at any time to call and hear this wonderful invention.

Your visit will obligate you in no way.

INSIST UPON VERIGIN BEING MADE TO OBEY

Kootenay Farmers Desire to Have the Law Enforced Against Doukhobors

As has more than once been stated in these columns, the Doukhobor question is a very live one in the Kootenay and Boundary districts, the defiance of the law by the communities and the failure of the Bowser government to deal with this under the special legislation passed for the purpose being resented by the rest of the people.

At the conference of Kootenay and Boundary farmers' institutes held in Nelson at the week-end the matter was referred to and a resolution was unanimously adopted by the delegates demanding that the government enforce the law strictly and compel the Doukhobors to send their children to school and also to observe the law as to the registration of vital statistics.

In 1914 the government had an act passed which enables breaches of the Vital Statistics, Health and Public School Acts to be dealt with by prosecution of any member of a religious community and distress against the property of the whole community in case of non-payment of any fine. No action has ever been taken under this provision, although the Doukhobors have continued to go on in the same old way, refusing to send their children to school or to register births and deaths.

At the convention opinions regarding the Doukhobors showed some conflict. Some delegates declared that they were "cutting the ground" from under the British-born ranchers' feet, while others held that the community members did not cut prices. Another declared that but for independent Doukhobors and Chinamen it would have been impossible to maintain the supply of produce necessary to the success of the Nelson public market.

On the question of prices and co-operative sale of produce it was suggested that education of the Doukhobor children would also solve this problem for the people of the next generation.

"Verigin does not want the children to go to school, because he fears that if they become educated they will know enough to break away from the community," said one member.

"The community generally holds up prices pretty well; it demands top price for its produce and for its labor," declared another.

A third asserted that community Doukhobors had smashed the Trail strawberry market by selling berries last summer in pails for 35 to 50 cents.

Another complaint against the Doukhobors, whose religion forbids them to take life, was that they attack the gopher pest by catching the animals in traps and then turn them loose on their neighbors' land.

PHILIPPINES ANXIOUS

Business Man From Manila Voices Prevailing Sentiment About Conditions.

"Disorganization of business and loss of trade is the prevailing situation in the Philippines, according to R. E. McGrath, who with his family arrived on the Yokohama Maru yesterday on a trip to the United States to purchase supplies and stock. He is an importer with business headquarters in Manila.

Mr. McGrath says the people on the islands are waiting anxiously the result of the presidential election in the United States, for the political changes in the present regime have seriously crippled the efficiency of administration, and the dominant fear of Japanese occupation will only be removed by a strong policy with regard to the islands.

"You can be sure," he said, "that if the white traders went away, the Filipinos would soon be ruined, because they are no match for the Japanese in the tricks of trade, and while some of the natives have prominent business interests, the firms which are making good are those who have foreign managers.

"Political agitation has resulted in greatly confused conditions in the islands, and until that subsides it is impossible to look for any material improvement. When capital feels secure it will flow back again and a new period of activity will come to the group. Meanwhile, the condition has been very discouraging, and many have grown sick of conditions and have left the islands."

On board was also R. Pollock, a young business man from the States, who has been opening up a branch for his firm in Hongkong, and is now returning home.

RETURNS FROM SERVICE

American Military Officer Completes Engagement as Attache in Tokio.

Completing a course in Oriental languages, Capt. George M. Brooke, United States army, arrived on the Montcagle yesterday. He has been attached to the American embassy at Tokio, taking the usual opportunity of an attache to place himself in touch with Oriental affairs.

Capt. Brooke will now report for military duty. On account of his official position he was unable to speak for publication, but he explains that owing to the war British naval and military attaches have all left Tokio, and are serving at the front. Two have paid the supreme sacrifice.

The captain is a great admirer of Victoria, where he stayed before the days of the city's improvement, and he was greatly pleased in coming up town, pending the departure of the Seattle steamer, to note the changes which have taken place since his last visit.

Pte. J. H. Brookes, Wounded in Action in France, Lived Here During Boyhood.

Pte. J. H. Brookes, a son of J. H. Brookes, formerly accountant at the Bank of British North America here, has been wounded in action, according to word received here by relatives.

The young soldier was well known in Victoria, having been educated at the Victoria public schools and later at University School, Mount Tolmie, of the cadet corps of which he was a member. A few years ago his parents went to Fredericton, N. B., where Mr. Brookes was appointed manager of the Bank of B. N. A., and it was from there that the son enlisted with the Canadian forces. He was serving with the machine gun section of the 15th Battalion when he was wounded in the left knee, being admitted on September 7 to the 22nd General Hospital, Camieres. He is the grandson of Mrs. R. J. Horton and a nephew of Mrs. L. H. Hardie, both of this city.

SPLENDID OFFERINGS AT THE

POPULAR STARS

Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne Given Ovation at Toronto.

Motion picture patrons will be delighted to know that Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne, the greatest stellar combination, as well as the most popular pair of screen stars, will be seen in the famous Metro pictures, "Man and His Soul," at the Dominion to-night, to-morrow and Wednesday.

In every-day life Mr. Bushman is as popular off the screen as he is while acting in the silent drama. He has been voted the most popular motion picture star at more than twenty contests, and only last fall captured the honors in two notable competitions, when he was declared "King of the Motion Pictures" on days arranged in his honor at the expositions in San Francisco and San Diego.

The nation-wide popularity of Mr. Bushman and Miss Bayne was attested in Toronto recently. They were invited there to lead the grand march at a big ball. They were driven through the streets in triumph, and scores of extra policemen were called out to clear the way for them. The ovation in the large armory, where the ball was given, was truly a wonderful one.

But it is the screen where this inimitable pair shine the brightest. They have perhaps done more than any other two performers to raise the high standard of motion pictures. Their work is always of the very highest calibre, and the productions in which they appear are always of the best type. Neither Mr. Bushman or Miss Bayne will accept the role in any feature unless it is clean, wholesome and unobjectionable in the slightest regard.

Mr. Bushman is an excellent athlete, and always keeps in the pink of physical condition. His athletic prowess is well evidenced by the difficult feats of strength and skill which he often displays on the screen.

In the same way Miss Bayne's love of outdoors gives her the radiant health and loveliness which do not fail to have their appeal to all.

Kronprinz Rupprecht of Bavaria has been summoned to the bedside of his father, now stricken with apoplexy. Should the elder Hun not survive this or another attack, the younger will step into a somewhat unusual position. He is known as the "Prince of Wales" to Legitimists and Jacobites. But it is not commonly known that his "right" derives through his father as well as his mother. The latter is "Mary IV. and III., de jure Queen of England." The former, the apopoiectic field marshal royal of the Bavarian brigands, is descended from our Charles I. through one line, and from our James I. through seven lines. Hence this eldest son Rupprecht has a claim to the sovereignty of the British empire which is strong—but not strong enough.—London Chronicle.

MYSTERY STORY AT ROYAL VICTORIA

"The Family Stain" Feature for First Three Days This Week

No more strange and thrilling story was ever written than "The Family Stain," adapted from "The Widow Lerouge," which will be the attraction at the Royal Victoria to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday. It is a mystery story of far more than usual interest. In this story Emile Gaboriau gives greater play to his fantastic mind than any other story that he ever wrote.

The Widow Lerouge, a strange woman who lived several years in a small community, one morning is found murdered in her home. The local police find the situation too big for them to cope with, whereupon an amateur detective, an old man of wealth name Talbert, is sent for and he begins to unravel the mystery. Such a tangle of complications as ensue are rarely, if ever found in any detective story. The trail leads from the humble widow's cottage to the home of a powerful man, who stands high in the government.

It appears that many years before this, the high official, Commarin, was in love with a beautiful girl. He is forced, however, by his haughty family to marry a girl in his own station of life. A child is born to the woman he wanted to marry and to his own wife at almost the same time. So much in love was Commarin with the woman that he was unable to marry, that he desires to bring her child up in all the luxury that his great fortune could command. In order to do this he had it arranged that the two children be sent to a certain place with their respective nurses, and that in the night they should be exchanged so that the illegitimate child would be returned directly to his home and be known as his legitimate heir.

The Widow Lerouge, then a young woman, was taken into the secret and it was up to her to make the proper deception. Thirty years later the young man who was supposed to be the real son of Valerie, who was the mother of the illegitimate child, discovers through correspondence the true situation. Between grief and humility he goes to the home of his father and there tells the other son that he is not the real son of Commarin. The Widow Lerouge is known to have important papers and data bearing on the entire transaction, and because of these, has been supported by Commarin in luxury for many years.

Directly following the expose by the supposedly legitimate son to young Albert Conimarin, the Widow Lerouge is found murdered. Her home is found ransacked and nothing of value taken except these papers. Then commences a search for the criminal. Before the story ends, six important persons are suspected of the murder and the situations that arise are fascinating and thrilling to the highest degree. The question as to the identity of the two young men is shututle-cocked in such a way as to make it impossible to know who's who until the finish of the story.

In "The Family Stain," at the Royal Victoria theatre for first half of week.

A Frightful Death! Suffocated in Asthma Attack

Every sufferer from asthma knows the terror, the abject fear that overcomes them when struggling for breath. The old-fashioned remedies may relieve, but never cure. Best results come from Catarrhozone, which cures asthma after hope is abandoned. It's because Catarrhozone kills the asthma germ that it cures. Choking spells and labored breathing are relieved, suffocating sensations and loss of breath are cured. Every trace of asthma is driven from the system, and even old chronics experience immediate relief and lasting cure. Equally good for bronchitis, throat trouble and catarrh. The large one dollar outfit includes the inhaler and lasts two months, sold by all dealers or from the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

ROMANO SECURES BLUEBIRD PHOTOPLAYS

"Little Eve Edgarton" First Attraction to Be Presented

Based upon Eleanor H. Abbott's serial in Everybody's Magazine, the Bluebird photoplay entitled "Little Eve Edgarton" will be the attraction at the Romano theatre to-day, to-morrow and Wednesday, with Herbert Rawlinson and Ella Hall playing the principal roles.

There was nothing commonplace about the printed narrative, and in adapting it to the screen Robert Z. Leonard, its producer, has made a picture-drama that adds new value to the original story. Going to the mountains of California for its rugged and picturesque exterior settings, the camera artists waited for days until nature sent the proper embellishments to climax the plot and then amid torrential downpours, with black clouds streaked with livid flashes of lightning and sturdy blasts of wind waving the trees and driving the rain in sheets, the players enacted an unusual scene. Artifice serves well enough in certain photoplaying circumstances, but when nature steps in to set the stage the realistic outcome may only be appreciated through actual observation.

COMING TO THE ROMANO THEATRE

EMILY STEVENS COMING TO DOMINION THEATRE

To see Emily Stevens upon the screen portraying such a soul racking part as in "Destiny," or "The Soul of a Woman," and to see the real Emily Stevens, the cheerful, bright, always happy, girl, who "just happens" to be a great star, is to see two different personalities. There is so much of Miss Stevens's charming and persuasive personality that never gets on the screen because she knows it does not properly belong there.

All actresses in either the spoken or the silent drama, are not "comfy" persons to work with. The higher up they are in their profession the greater allowance usually must be made for temperament. A considerable footage of film is spoiled, just as many rehearsals are broken up, because the star has brought her nerves with her. Miss Stevens has nerves, too, lots of them, and very delicate ones, but she keeps them in tune as a violinist does the strings of his instrument. They always sing in harmony with the work in which she is engaged. It is rather wonderful that a little woman playing seven performances in an exacting stage play and acting before the camera three long afternoons a week does not go to pieces now and then under the tension. Never Miss Stevens. Her pieces are always emotional, but she seems to sit placidly at the switchboard of her powers, turning on tears and anger and grief and passion at the call of her director, and laughing between times as if it were all real play.

Away from the eye of the camera Miss Stevens exercises a rare camaraderie that is delightful to all those permitted to share in it. Her artistic democracy gives real pleasure to all those about her. There is a joke with her brother and sister players, a smile for the hustling property boys, a word of praise for the anxious camera man.

Her popularity in the studio is equalled only by her popularity in private life. Of simple tastes, Miss Stevens loves intellectual recreations.

Miss Stevens will be seen at the Dominion theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"Can you direct me (hic) th'other shide?" "Over there, of course." "Jusht been over there (hic) an' they tol' me it wash over here."

Schools for scandal are somewhat crowded.

LOCAL THEATRES THIS WEEK

METRO FEATURE AT DOMINION THEATRE

Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne in "Man and His Soul"

Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne, the two greatest stars of the silent drama, have the stellar roles in "Man and His Soul," the latest Metro wonderplay, which will be shown here at the Dominion theatre to-day, to-morrow and Wednesday. There are scores of intense situations in the story which deals with a novel theme and is handled in masterly manner.

Mr. Bushman and Miss Bayne are supported by a strong cast, which includes Helen Dunbar, Grace Valentine, Edward Brennan, John Davidson and other prominent players. Mr. Bushman and Miss Bayne were last seen on the Metro programme in "Pennington's Choice," and before that Mr. Bushman was starred with Marguerite Snow in "The Silent Voice." John W. Noble directed the production.

Motion picture patrons and producers alike concede that Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne are not only the greatest stellar combination in motion pictures to-day, but they are easily the most popular pair that have ever appeared on the screen as co-stars.

It is no exaggeration to say that the latest Bushman-Bayne feature, "Man and His Soul," is without doubt the greatest production in which either of these stars have ever been seen. This screen wonderplay is produced on a most elaborate scale, in keeping with the story and the stars, and the Metro Pictures Corporation who produced it rightly surmised that it would create a sensation. In one scene alone, where a large factory is destroyed by fire, more than a thousand persons are seen. There is a remarkable and interesting allegory in the first part of the picture. The creation of the world is shown, followed by a realistic picture of the Garden of Eden, in which the characters of Adam and Eve are introduced, and the birth of Conscience is shown.

The evolution of Conscience, and its far reaching influence on the development of mankind, is depicted in different scenes, presented at different periods down through the ages. The chief character is "John Conscience," which is essayed by Mr. Bushman. This character is introduced, when the marvelous story leaves off its allegorical cloak, and takes a modern, human form. The influence of conscience on all the striving of the human race is shown in striking fashion, and the whole story teems with big situations and romantic and dramatic incidents.

SERIAL FILM TO BE SHOWN AT ROMANO

One of the picturesque characters of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company's latest serial "Liberty," the first chapter of which will be presented at the Romano next week, is that of the maid Teresa, a role which is taken by Maude Emory, a recent recruit to Universal pictures. Her part is essential to the plot, and she has some of the strongest emotional scenes in the whole story. She loves Manuel Leon, played by Bertram Grassby, but he deserts her for Liberty Horton, the heroine, played by Marie Walcamp. After many adventures, Teresa kills Manuel and commits suicide upon his body.

In the first episode, Director Jacques Jaccard, who, writing the story himself, has an opportunity to make use of the particular talents of his players, takes advantage of Miss Emory's training as a dancer. For the entertainment of the Americans, she performs a Spanish dance, dressed in the picturesque Carmen shawls, and fluffy skirts of the heroine of Bizet's opera. Miss Emory is a dancer by profession and has lent her services to other directors several times in the staging of dance pictures.

MISS CLARK APPEARS IN "LITTLE LADY EILEEN"
At the Variety and for first half of week.

ORIENTALS ARE THE PANTAGES TOP LINERS

Long Tack Sam's Company of Chinese Wonderworkers Supported by Splendid Bill

Headlining the strong bill which opens at Pantages to-day with the matinee performance, is the Long Tack Sam Company of Chinese wonder workers. They have a remarkably clever exhibition of acrobatics, juggling and magic. The act is a decided treat by reason of the fact that it is novel, picturesque and sensational. Long Tack Sam and the members of his company are all artists of the first rank, and their work is clever, entertaining and mystifying. Wonderful feats of Chinese mysticism are followed by Chinese temple legerdemain, Manchurian war spear exhibition, contortion, hair-raising acrobatics and plate spinning. Long Tack Sam is a star performer in every line, and he ranks high as a comedian. One marvels at the perfect dialects he has at his command in his impersonations.

Gaylord and Lancton, "Two Cork-ing Girl," have a comedy skit which introduces singing and dancing. They introduce a dressing-room scene which is the basis for much of the comedy patter, and incidently show how performers remove burnt cork from their faces. They form a popular team.

The special added feature for the week which Manager Rice has arranged to present for the first time here is Joe Keno and Rosie Green, remarkable acrobatic dancers and singers who have been the talk of the East for the last few months. They call their offering "All Life and Action," which describes it very well.

Eva Shirley is a pleasing little miss who has a neat appearance and wins favor with the audience the minute she appears before the footlights. She renders songs which please, beginning with an operatic number and running the range to popular songs.

Willis Gilbert & Company open the bill with a combination of acrobatic, pantomime and instrumental turns, and Dooley and Nelson have a distinctly different comedy and dancing act.

The Rantagescope presents Charlie Chaplin in the two-reel comedy, "Night in the Show," which is a laughing treat. A Chaplin comedy will appear each week at this popular house until November 20, when the biggest mystery serial ever shown on the screen will begin.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS AS A GOOD, BAD MAN

"Passin' Through" Will Be Presented at Columbia for Three Days

Did you ever hear the story of the good bad man?

It has frequently been narrated in a sort of way but never told so well as in the film play which is to be presented at the Columbia theatre for the first three days of this week.

Douglas Fairbanks is cast in the stellar role and that statement alone is the assurance of great good character work in this fine, sterling drama with a sporting instinct.

Most of the villains in photoplays from the very beginning of the film industry have been the "utter" villain of tradition. They have been merely bad on general principles. But Douglas Fairbanks comes to the rescue with an innovation in the portrayal of this type.

His bad man is a most likable chap. His depredations take eccentric channels. For instance, he holds up the Pacific Limited and robs the conductor of his ticket punch. Again, he sticks up the town grocer and robs him of quantities of food which he bestows upon a friendless orphan who lives on the outskirts of civilization.

The reason is that "Passin' Through," as he calls himself for want of a better name, has no idea who his father is. He suspects that his birth may have been clouded. Therefore he is an enemy of society, which would make him an outcast.

It ends happily enough. In the course of the stirring action, "Passin' Through" learns that he was born like most babies, with a good father, and that his parentage was regular in every respect.

And that, as briefly as can be told, is the story of "Passin' Through" which everyone has heard and will want to see filmed. Douglas Fairbanks is the Good Bad Man in very truth.

"Gipsy Joe," a mighty good gypsy, is the big comedy of the week and by itself alone is a first-class attraction.

COMPANY MANAGER INJURED.

During the filming of "The Family Stain," the latest William Fox feature release, there was a scene in which several persons had to run suddenly in front of several fast running motorcycles. Charles Johnston, company manager, was filling in this scene as Mr. Davis was in a hurry and could not wait for an extra man to take the part. Misjudging the distance of the oncoming motor-cycle, Mr. Johnston failed to jump past it and landed directly in front of the whizzing affair, was knocked down and his leg broken. He was hurried to the hospital and had to be away from his work for over four weeks.

The sales of Noblemen Cigars have more than trebled during the past three months. Have you tried one lately?

MARGUERITE CLARK AT VARIETY THEATRE

Appears in "Little Lady Eileen" During First Half of Week

Following her thrilling romance in "Silks and Satins," little Marguerite Clark is starred by the Famous Players Film Company in an entirely new environment as "Little Lady Eileen." The scenes of this quaint little play are laid on the Emerald Isle, where Miss Clark has an opportunity to introduce on the screen a new character, that of a typical little Irish lassie who is an unperverted believer in fairies. Miss Clark has a notable cast in her support, including Maggie Hallowell Fisher, John L. Shine, Russell Bassett, Harry Lee and Vernon Steele.

J. Searle Dawley, who has directed Marguerite Clark in the majority of her successes for the Famous Players, is the director of this delightful photoplay which is to be released on the paramount programme at the Variety theatre to-day, to-morrow and Wednesday.

At Miss O'Harahan's school for girls, near Dublin, there is a mischievous pupil with the awe-inspiring name of Lady Eileen Kavanaugh who is barely large enough to sustain the burden of so cumbersome a name. Her pranks are far from pleasing to Mistress O'Harahan, and she is punished many times until the sudden discovery that her father is penniless leads to her being withdrawn from the school.

Dennis Kavanaugh spends his entire time delving into the hundreds of massive volumes which line the walls of his library from floor to ceiling. While perched on his ladder searching for a musty tome he discoveres a will, yellow with age. The contents of the will state that the entire estate of Terrence Kavanaugh, amounting to a vast sum, will descend to the eldest daughter of the house of Kavanaugh provided that she marry the eldest son of the house of Churchill.

On the train homeward bound Eileen meets a handsome young man who as fate will have it, is Stanley, the eldest of the Churchills. During his stay in Eileen's home town Stanley and the little maid become deeply interested in each other, though he never tells her his name. Meanwhile George, his scapegrace brother, discovers the terms of the will, presents himself at the Kavanaugh home as the eldest of his family and insists that the marriage be arranged at once, despite Eileen's very evident distaste for him. The little girl is tricked into the marriage, but fortunately her lover rescues her from George on their wedding day. George, believing he has killed Stanley in the fight which ensues, flees on horseback, but is killed by a huge boulder which rolls down the mountainside.

Of course Stanley thinks that he found Eileen all by himself and that his brother was killed by accident, but Eileen knows that it was the fairies who showed her her true lover and who rolled the giant boulder down upon the miscreant George.

The manufactures exhibits and the district and government displays are all on the main floors, where the massive pillars of the building with their decorations make a splendid setting. The whole decorative scheme is effective and lends charm to the display.

The tea-rooms and Red Cross booths are upstairs and this floor has been transformed into a veritable fairyland of lights and flowers and flags. This gallery is very popular with the audience, and it is already proving to be a centre of social life.

The exhibits of the provincial and Dominion governments are very striking. Professor Stevenson personally supervised the setting up of the experimental farm display. The products from that institution are attracting much attention and show what may be done when scientific methods of farming are used. Much credit is due to Professor Stevenson for the excellent work he has done in first growing the produce and later in setting it up in an artistic manner.

The provincial government exhibit arrived from Toronto on Saturday, where it had been shown at the annual exhibition. Work was at once commenced and all day yesterday A. H. Shotbolt and his assistants labored in order to have everything in place before the opening. The big game, local fish, minerals and transparencies make a fine showing and add much to the attractiveness of the fair. Directly the event is over Mr. Shotbolt will pack up the exhibits and move them to Calgary, where they will be shown for the benefit of the prairie people.

Throughout the week there will be a provincial government demonstrator present from the department of agriculture whom will distribute pamphlets and give information to any who may ask for it. Anyone desiring information regarding the putting up of fruits or any other work in connection with the farm or orchard can get it at first hand and have their difficulties explained.

Perhaps the feature of the show which is of most interest to Victorians on account of its possibilities for the future is the exhibit of home grown seeds and of vegetables and flowers grown from local grown seeds. It certainly is a revelation. The exhibit has been made through the local Seedgrowers Association and much credit is due them and all who have had to do with it for the wonderful results obtained. Among those who helped to set up the display and who take a great interest in the work is Park Superintendent Purdy.

Speaking of the department this morning Mr. Purdy said: "This is the most important department in the whole fair. It means more to this city than anything else. Now that it has been proved that seeds can be grown here as well if not better than elsewhere, the industry should develop to enormous proportions. See these seeds before you. Here are some mangold seeds that the government expert has declared are one hundred per cent. pure. It is a wonderful result. The seeds are the best in the world and the possibilities for the development of the industry is limitless."

An exhibit by the returned soldiers is a notable one. The work done as shown at the stall is really splendid and its value lies in the possibilities it shows of what may be done in future when more men return from the front.

Two district exhibits from Saanich and Royal Oak respectively are in themselves displays worth a visit to the fair. They will be an eye-opener to those who sometimes are sceptical as to the possibilities of the districts in the way of fruit growing.

In the gallery a small exhibit that attracted much attention was a series of models of British war vessels ranging from the submarine to the Queen Elizabeth, by H. W. Ford Verrinder, a boy of 14 years of age. They are well executed and show an excellent sense of proportion.

At the formal opening this afternoon Alderman R. Porter, president of the Victoria and Island Development Association, gave the inaugural address, and there were also short speeches by His Worship Mayor Stewart and F. A. Pauline, M. P. P.-elect for Saanich. All the members of the committees were present as well as representatives of the local societies and associations which are interested in the prosperity and welfare of the city. William Sloan, M. P. P.-elect of Nanaimo, who was expected, telegraphed this morning that he was unable to come.

Special arrangements have been made with the railways for excursion rates from outside points, thus giving all who wish an opportunity to be present. The E. & N. railway is giving a fare and a fifth return rate for the week, and the Victoria & Sidney and the B. C. Electric interurban lines are both giving a single fare return rate, good to return the following day. The result of the influx of people will not only swell the attendance at the fair, but will also have the effect of making the local merchants very busy, as those who come from outside points will do a good deal of shopping while they are here.

Great credit is due the promoters of the fair for the excellent work they have done in collating such a fine lot of exhibits, and in giving the public an opportunity to see what is being done at home, and of learning what products should receive their preference. They deserve all the credit which is being given them.

ANNOUNCEMENT

For the past four weeks workmen have been busy preparing the new home for the larger work and sphere of action of the Standard Furniture Co. Now all the debris of alterations has been cleared away, the carpenters and painters have written "finished" over their allotted tasks and departed. The store fairly revels in cleanly attractiveness. The new goods have all been placed; the new departments, which now make this a full-fledged housefurnishing establishment, have been given location and stocked with the newest and most approved merchandise. The Furniture lines have all been enlarged, the variety increased and wherever possible, the qualities bettered.

All of our time, effort, good-will and taste have been devoted to placing our new store in order, and are now ready for your visit. In the past four years, since we began business in Victoria, we have met constant encouragement and appreciation of our efforts to raise the standard of home furnishing.

For the future we have only confidence, with a larger store, carrying more diversified lines; we anticipate a greater portion of the patronage from the home-loving people of our city. It has been our experience that the public are very much interested in all that concerns their homes, and acting upon this, we have as far as possible arranged rooms en suite, enabling one at a glance to get a better idea of the appearance when in their home.

We Want Everyone to Visit Our New Store

Opening Day, Tuesday Oct. 3

Beginning that date and continuing throughout the month we are offering special inducements in the way of an introduction sale.

Respectfully,

The Standard Furniture Co.

WOULD ABOLISH PASSES.

To the Editor.—As a matter of public interest I ask your influence in the following:

Some months ago the B. C. Electric Railway Company advanced their car fares 25 per cent., from eight tickets for a quarter down to six, and this acts very harshly on numerous residents who now average $37.50 per annum instead of $30, as previously, for car fares.

I use the cars a good deal, and I am astonished at the number of people who are carried free, "pass in on the nod," and I suggest to the company that they stop all free passes and give the public the same number of tickets as before, eight for 25 cents. I think the alteration would meet with general approval and remove a grievance which undoubtedly exists.

MACHINE AND ITS METHODS.

To the Editor:—I visited the V.M.D. docks on Friday, September 29, at 11 a.m., and whilst there was told by a friend that an oiler was wanted for the Estevan, a government boat, lying alongside. I went on board and made application to a Mr. Sutherland, chief engineer, who was busy and told me to come back to-morrow. I went back next morning, September 30, about 8.30 o'clock, and met the second engineer, who said I was to wait, that the chief would be there in about half an hour and then they would be able to fix me up. On arrival of the chief he put me through a viva voce examination as to the class of work I had been accustomed to. I told him I had run a machine in the V.M.D., and that I had been used to machinery all my life, being a mine engineer. He seemed satisfied and said "All right; bring me a line from Mr. Huxtable, as I cannot engage but through that office."

I went straightway on my bicycle to the Conservative rooms, arriving about 9.30 a.m., and after waiting until 10 a.m. secured an interview with Mr. Huxtable and told him of the vacancy and asked him for a line. He said: "I don't know anything about it, and cannot do anything in the matter until I am notified from the engineer, but," he said, "I will give you the first chance just as soon as I hear anything. If you look in in the afternoon I may by then be able to do something." He further remarked: "Say! Did you hear the phone bell ring just before you came in?" I said yes. He said: "Well, that was a message from Capt. Robertson telling me I had to hold everything until I had further instructions from him."

I said how would it be my seeing Capt. Robertson myself? He said it wouldn't do any good, as everything was bound to go through this office, and that he would give me the first chance.

I waited in the Conservative rooms until 12 noon, when Huxtable went to lunch. Between a suspicion that all was not right and a natural inclination to investigate if really the engineer had not sent word, I cycled to the V.M.D. docks and found the Estevan had moved to the fisheries dock, near Johnson street bridge, and I went there and met the second engineer and asked for the chief; he said he had gone for the day, but asked if he could do anything. I said it is about that job that is vacant. He said: "Oh! it is filled. Huxtable sent me a man named ——— with a note. We expected you would be coming."

At this point I did not know what to think. I, a citizen of Victoria, a householder, having a wife and three children depending on me, a man able and willing to work and earnest to a degree, to be tricked by a wicked system such as this. I decided then and there at whatever cost to me and mine I should make this public.

To the second engineer I said: "Oh! I see the machine is not smashed yet."

He said: "No. I wish to God it was, as we are expected to get a certain amount of efficiency from our men, and yet we do not figure in their engagement, and the men themselves presume upon that fact."

Being now in a fairly heated condition, I cycled about town for an hour, and when sufficiently cooled down to trust myself, I again visited the Conservative rooms, about 2 p.m., and approached Huxtable and asked him in a casual way if he had heard anything. He said not a word, but would let me know just as soon as he got word. I then loosened out at him and told him he was an infamous liar in front of his cronies, and said you may not be long before you will need a job. He told me there was the door and ordered me out. I told him I would go when I was good and ready, etc.

For some months I have been out of work, with the exception of five weeks in the V.M.D. shell making, and have attributed my non-employment to hard luck, but since the above experience I see it in quite another light. One of the many instances I could quote, i.e.: I made application at Cameron's shipbuilding yard for carpenter work, having had considerable experience in that line since coming to this country, and was turned down. I went as usual to Huxtable—the giver of all good gifts—and asked him about it. He said John Day, the labor man, is the one you should see. I saw John Day. He said go down and give them your name and address, and I said I had already done so. He said when I am down and they are in want of men I will tick you off. I have been down several mornings at, and have asked the foreman for work, but there was nothing doing. I guess I had not been ticked off, as there were several new starters during the mornings I was there. I presume they had been ticked off.

For the authenticity of these statements I will vouch on oath.

JOHN D. BARKER.

Capture of Valuable Mammal Will Boost Wages of Tankinak.

Nearly a ton of whalebone, said to be worth between $3,500 and $4,000, and a large quantity of fertilizer, was obtained from a right whale bagged in Alaska waters recently by the crew of the steam whaler Tanginak, of the North Pacific Sea Products Company. In the past few years the right whale has become almost extinct in northern waters. The members of the crews of the whaling vessels share in the golden harvest resulting from the catch and the bagging of the right whale will mean a fat purse for the men of the Tanginak.

FIRE BROKE OUT ON LINER AT SEA

Casing Around Monteagle's Funnel Became Ignited; Flames Extinguished

MUCH EXCITEMENT AMONG PASSENGERS

Outbreak Occurred When Steamship Was Four Days Out From V. I. Coast

When flames broke out in the "riddley," nautical parlance for the casing around the stack above the furnaces, passengers aboard the C. P. O. S. liner Monteagle had a most exciting experience at sea.

Fire broke out on the Monteagle on Wednesday last when she was four days out from this port, without warning, the casting circling the funnel became over-heated and was soon fanned into a blaze, which luckily was confined to a small space, and by smart work on the part of the crew was quickly extinguished.

On the fire being reported to the bridge, orders were immediately given to man the fire stations, and in double-quick time officers and members of the ship's crew were at their posts, and the pumps were throwing a tremendous force of water, which soon extinguished the blaze.

Passengers talked freely of the danger which threatened the liner following the arrival of the Monteagle at the outer docks yesterday noon, but the officers were very reticent concerning the outbreak and dismissed the subject with the remark that "it was just fire drill." The incident caused considerable excitement among the passengers, but at no time was there any sign of panic. All aboard were soon reassured by the businesslike manner in which the theatening situation was handled. The cause of the fire is a mystery, but it was stated by persons aboard that unsatisfactory coal shipped in the Orient had something to do with the outbreak.

The Monteagle was 13 days 21 hours in making the passage here from Yokohama, with an average of about 13 knots. By a peculiar coincidence she reached William Head a minute ahead of the time made on the previous voyage. Capt. A. J. Hailey, R. N. R., commander of the Monteagle, is mourning the loss of "Bully," an affectionate bulldog with a demoniacal countenance, known to all and sundry on the Monteagle as the master of the bridge deck, who died while the ship was passing through a heat wave in the typhoon area off the Japanese coast. "Bully" was missed from his favorite position on watch on the boat deck forward just as soon as the liner slowed down off the docks, and Capt. Hailey was kept busy explaining what had happened to his pet. In his time "Bully" has covered many thousands of miles aboard the Monteagle. The half-chewed kennel in the passageway leading to the captain's cabin was also a missing relic.

Owing to the fact that the Empress of Russia sailed from Yokohama just ahead of her the Monteagle had very few cabin passengers this trip. The cabin list was as follows: Mrs. E. Anderson, W. B. Anderson, Capt. G. M. Brooke, a United States army officer bound home from Japan; Sister Kion Cecilia Chan, Thos. A. Churchill, D. U. Clark, General Basile Deruissoff, a retired Russian army officer; Mrs. Chas. Fyffe, E. C. Fyffe, H. A. W. Gerson, Mrs. Gerson, Master Gerson, Miss E. J. Given, Miss A. E. Gorham, H. L. Griffiths, K. Hirano, Mrs. Stanley Hughes, W. Hurley, Oscar Knorring, Mrs. Knorring, J. Koga, A. Krise, A. C. Logan, Mrs. M. R. Logan, C. W. Malkin, W. Mohan, F. Mousley, Sister Marie des Neiges, R. L. Parker, A. H. Saklat, J. A. Scarberry, M. Spurrier and C. B. Thompson.

The Monteagle brought in over 6,000 tons of Oriental cargo, including 1,000 bales of raw silk valued at $500,000.

LEAVING FOR KYUQUOT

Whaler White Gets Away To-night to Resume Hunting on West Coast.

The steam whaler White, of the Victoria Whaling Company's fleet, which, accompanied by the Blue, arrived in port on Friday from Naden Harbor, signed on her crew this forenoon and is expected to get away this evening for Kuyquot. She will continue to hunt whales during the present month in conjunction with the other vessels stationed on the west coast. Capt. John Christian will still be in command of the White.

The crew of the Blue has been paid off and she will lay up for the Winter.

STEAMER SCHEDULES WILL BE MAINTAINED

No Changes Planned in C. P. R. Gulf Sailings During the Winter Months

That no change will be made in the sailings of the C. P. R. gulf steamers this winter was the announcement made this morning by Capt. J. W. Troup, manager of the B. C. coast service.

In the fall season of other years it has been the custom of the company to slightly change the sailing time between Victoria and Vancouver, and vice versa, to conform with the winter train schedules, but no alteration is planned this year. The steamer Princess Victoria, or whatever other steamer may be substituted from time to time, will continue to leave here at 3 p.m. for Vancouver, and the Princess Charlotte will maintain the present schedule, leaving at 4.30 p.m. for Seattle.

The winter schedule covering the Alaska sailings, it is expected, will become effective at the end of the present month, when the Princess Alice will be withdrawn until next season.

The Princess Patricia is now making a round trip, sailing daily between Nanaimo and Vancouver, and will continue to operate on that schedule throughout the winter.

The winter sailings between Victoria and the west coast of Vancouver Island became effective yesterday with the departure last night of the steamer Tees for Holberg.

In future the Tees will leave on the 1st and 20th of each month at 11 p.m., for Holberg and way points, and on the 10th of each month, at the same hour, for Clayoquot and intermediate points.

Now that the hop-picking season is over in Washington, the West Coast Indians are returning to their reservations. A large number of Indians left last night aboard the Tees.

FIRE ON PHILADELPHIA

American Liner Threatened by Blaze When 800 Miles From Port.

New York, Oct. 2.—Fire, which started in the cargo hold of the American line steamship Philadelphia Thursday, while the vessel was 800 miles from this port, still was smouldering when she arrived here yesterday.

Few of the 646 passengers were aware of the peril they had been in until after the big liner docked. The first intimation of fire was when smoke was seen pouring from a hatch under the steerage dining room aft. The officers, it was said, removed the 342 steerage passengers at once and took precautions to keep the news from spreading.

The Philadelphia left Liverpool Saturday, September 23. The origin of the fire has not been determined. Flooding of the cargo hold checked the flames.

HALIBUT MARKET

After Some Check, Fish Is Again Arriving at Prince Rupert.

Following a scarcity of halibut on the market, fish are again arriving in more plentiful quantities at Prince Rupert, according to word brought south by the Prince George. There has been continued bad weather at the fishing banks, which has cut off the fishing boats from getting supplies. The weather still continues bad, but the boats are beginning to come in with fair catches.

PLEASED WITH TRAVEL

W. P. Hinton Says Business Handled North This Season Was Excellent.

W. P. Hinton, vice-president of the G. T. P., who recently returned east from Prince Rupert, in an interview at the northern port, stated that he was well pleased with the results of the Alaskan tourist trade this year. Travel by the G. T. P. boats had been excellent. Bookings are already being made for next year's tourist season.

MANILA MARU COMING

O. S. K. Liner Left Yokohama on Thursday for North Pacific Ports.

Leaving Japan on time the Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner Manila Maru, Capt. Kobyashi, put to sea from Yokohama on Sept. 28 for Victoria. She is due here on Oct. 11. The liner Tacoma Maru, of the same fleet, is expected to reach here on Friday.

The Chicago Maru, outbound from this port for Hongkong, arrived at Yokohama last Thursday.

PRESIDENT RUNNING LATE.

The Pacific Coast Steamship Company's liner President is running behind schedule on her northbound trip from California ports. She was reported by wireless at 8 o'clock last night, 334 miles north of San Francisco.

NEW MASTER BROUGHT YOKOHAMA TO PORT

Capt. T. Terada Was Here Fourteen Years Ago as Mate of Kaga Maru

After fourteen years' absence from the trans-Pacific service Capt. T. Terada, one of the veteran navigators of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha fleet, returned to Victoria yesterday as master of the liner Yokohama Maru. Capt. Terada succeeds Capt. Shinohe, who has been placed on the reserve list at Yokohama and will in all probability get one of the new liners destined for the European service. Capt. Terada was first officer of the liner Kaga Maru when he last visited this coast.

An important personage arriving by the Yokohama Maru was A. Sato, Japanese ambassador to Washington, accompanied by a number of diplomatic officials. Moving pictures were taken of the party as they left the wharf by automobile on a tour of the city. The liner carried 28 first class and 188 steerage passengers, the saloon list including: Major T. Midzumachi, R. E. McGrath and family, R. Pollock, L. Druykin and M. Sainikoff. Among the through steerage passengers were 78 Russian Jews, many being from the devastated districts now occupied by the central powers. Twenty-six Japanese and one Chinese came ashore at this port.

The liner carried a cargo of 6,048 tons, 348 tons being discharged here. The through freight was made up principally of 19,784 chests of tea, 7,580 bags of rice, 2, 428 packages of lily bulbs, 1,863 cases of porcelain and 1,625 packages of fire crackers.

The shipments destined for the silk train from Seattle to New York were: 2,056 bales of raw silk, valued at $1,028,000; 114 cases of silk braid and 157 cases of silken merchandise.

The Yokohama Maru completed her twentieth voyage to this coast under good weather conditions. What blows were encountered helped the vessel along, but on the whole smooth seas and gentle breezes were the order.

Apart from the skipper, other new officers aboard the Yokohama Maru are: R. Nagano, chief engineer, replacing N. Sakamoto; and K. Taki, purser, who succeeds K. Kukui.

TO AUGUST SERVICE

O. S. K. Will Place Number of New Steamers in Trans-Pacific Trade.

Four to six new steamers, now being built in Japan, will be placed in service between the Orient and North Pacific ports, in addition to the present fleet of the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, according to a statement made by Edwin Orrett, Tacoma manager of the Japanese company. The number of new vessels to be placed in the trans-Pacific service, he says, will depend entirely on the amount of cargo offering.

The first of the new vessels is expected to arrive on this coast next Fall, and all the vessels will be in commission by 1918. They will be of the type of the Tacoma Maru, 430 feet long, with a capacity of 6,000 tons.

SKIPPER OF PRINCE JOHN BECOMES PILOT

Capt. C. W. Wearmouth, G. T. P. Officer, Gets Appointment Under Vancouver Authority

Capt. C. W. Wearmouth, master of the Grand Trunk Pacific steamer Prince John, has been appointed by the Vancouver pilotage authority as an extra pilot for the port of Vancouver. No announcement has been made as to when Capt. Weamouth will take up his new duties, but he has been instructed to undergo the necessary examination to qualify for the position.

Capt. Weamouth is a young navigator who has had plenty of experience in coastal waters to fit him for the new berth. Ever since the G.T.P. has been operating steamships on this coast he has been associated with the company, being master of the steamer Henriette at the time the G.T.P. inaugurated its passenger and freight service between Victoria, Vancouver and Prince Rupert. He has been master of the steamer Prince Albert and from time to time has been associated with the steamers Prince George and Prince Rupert as pilot.

For the past two years or more Capt. Wearmouth has been master of the steamer Prince John, plying between Vancouver and Prince Rupert and the Queen Charlotte Islands, and during the past winter he was in charge of the Prince John in the Alaska trade. The many friends of Capt. Wearmouth are congratulating him on his new appointment. He is senior officer in the G.T.P. service and is one of the most popular navigators plying in coastal waters.

No province even in the "ramshackle empire" has a greater medley of races, languages and creeds than Transylvania. Roumanians form about one-half of the population, Magyars and Szeklers together another quarter, and Germans about one-tenth, whilst Armenians, Jews, Gypsies—numbering over 80,000, and distinct enough to be regarded as a separate people—and a number of minor nationalities complete the total. Each race speaks its own language and has its own religion, over a quarter of the population adhering to Protestant forms of belief, being chiefly Lutherans, Calvinists and Unitarians.—London Chronicle.

WESTS AND GARRISON OPEN SOCCER SEASON

Play Draw After Some Good Early-Season Football; Intermediates at Beacon Hill

The Wests and the Garrison ushered in the football season on Saturday afternoon when they played an exhibition game on the Work Point grounds, resulting in a 4 to 4 tie. Both teams played a good game for so early in the season and some real good football is promised when the teams get in a little better shape. The Wests had most of their old team out, the only exceptions being Wilson, a newcomer in goal, and Campbell at inside left.

The Garrison started the game with a rush and were the first to score, but the Wests came back strong and evened up after a couple of fruitless rushes by both teams. The game lagged for awhile after the second goal, and it was not until the Wests had notched another counter that the players began to show real form. After a spirited rally the Garrison evened up the score and the Wests came back with a rush and scored again. At this stage of the game Youson and Sherret were playing a fine game and the Wests' back division were impregnable. However, the Garrison kept attacking and with Philmore and Frankish attacking furiously, scored again. With the count 3 all, both teams began to play football, but the Garrison was the first to score after a spirited attack. The Wests were beginning to feel the effects of the strenuous play, but came back gamely, and scored again.

Both teams tried hard in the dying minutes of the game to break the tie, but both defences were playing a safe game, with the result that no more scoring was done. Philmore and Frankish starred for the Garrison, each scoring 2 goals, while Sherret, Youson, Muir, Petticrew and Whyte played well for the Wests. The wests' goals were scored by McLeod, Campbell, Sherret and Youson. The Wests had two goals disallowed.

In the intermediate game played at Beacon Hill between the V. I. A. A. and the Retail Employees, another tie resulted, the score being 2 to 2, both teams playing a good brand of soccer. The V. I. A. A. play a league game next Saturday.

SCOTTISH RINK WINS IN CUP COMPETITION

Close games featured the play during the past week on the green of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club at Beacon Hill, Dunn defeating Ferguson 19 to 17 and Langley winning from Stevenson 18 to 17, in the Shortt, Hill & Duncan cup, singles. In the National Clayton Cup rink match, the Scottish rink defeated the Canadian rink by three shots after a very spirited game. The scores: Canadian rink—McNeill, Robertson, Greenhill, Langley—15. Scottish rink—Hiller, Hiscock, Fraser, Stevenson—18.

SOUTH AMERICA TRIP A DISMAL FAILURE

Boxers Return From the Argentine Broke; Government Stopped Bouts

New York, Oct. 2.—On board the steamer Byron, of the Lamport & Holt line, which has arrived here, were almost a dozen pugilists of various sizes, weights and colors. The names of the exponents of the manly art were not on the first class passenger list; as, according to one of their number, they had returned from South America "dead broke."

Early in June about 20 boxers and their managers were invited to the Argentine Republic to take part in an international tournament from which the boxers were to reap a golden harvest. On arriving at Buenos Aires they were informed by government officials that no prizefighting would be allowed, but boxing exhibitions could be held across the river.

The trip was a failure from beginning to end. Not all of the men have come back. Sam McVey, Bob Devere and Dave Mills are still in Chile, and they have every chance of remaining there unless funds are sent them. Jim Buckley returned with the boxers. Those arriving included Harry Wells, "Rough-House" Weir, Mike Maisey, Eddie Kelly, Tim Kelly, Tom Robinson, Albert Badoud, Ted Lewis, Nat Bradley and Sam Langford.

W. H. Heckler, who represented Billy Gibson, Billy Murphy and Charles Johnson, had all his stable along—unscathed.

JOHNNY AITKEN WINS SHEEPSHEAD CLASSIC

Indianapolis Speed Demon Sets New Mark in Astor Cup Race

New York, Oct. 2.—Driving 250 miles without a stop, Johnny Aitken, of Indianapolis, won the Astor cup and a cash prize of $10,000 on the Sheepshead Bay speedway Saturday afternoon in 2 hrs. 23 min. 04.02 sec., a new world's record for the distance. His average speed was 104.3 miles an hour.

At the fiftieth mile the Indianapolis driver swung into the lead ahead of Chevrolet and never relinquished that position, finishing the race nearly a lap ahead of Rickenbacker, who finished second. Vail was third.

Aitken's victory places him in the lead for the championship of the American Automobile Association. Saturday's race was the second big automobile event to be won by Aitken without a stop. He finished first in the 300-mile contest on the Cincinnati speedway last Labor Day.

RACE IN NATIONAL YET TO BE DECIDED

Dodgers and Phillies Start Series To-day Which Will Decide Championship

Boston, winner of the world's championship of 1915, is again the pennant winner in the American League. Although Chicago's defeat in their first game yesterday brought a decision in the American, the pennant in the National League is not yet clinched, and it will take the concluding games of the season to decide the winner. Brooklyn, in first place, and Philadelphia in second, appear to have the best chances of opposing Boston in the inter-league championship series.

Whether Brooklyn, Philadelphia or Boston wins in the National, the classic of baseball will be played in the East, as it was last year. Not since 1910, when Chicago won first place in the National League, has the West had a contender in the championship series.

The New York National League team last week established a major league record of 26 successive victories. The previous major league record of 20 straight games won, made by Providence 32 years ago, was passed by the New York team Monday. Saturday the mark was increased to 26 by winning one game from Boston, in which Benton allowed only one hit. Boston broke the winning streak by taking the second game of the double header, 8 to 3.

Brooklyn, although maintaining its hold on first place, did not play the baseball the team showed during July and early August. In the opening game of the concluding series with Philadelphia, Thursday, Philadelphia, with Alexander in the box, overwhelmed Brooklyn, 8 to 4. Fridays contest was postponed until Sunday morning, when Philadelphia, with Rixey at the helm, defeated Brooklyn decisively, 7 to 2. In the afternoon game, Saturday, Brooklyn defeated Philadelphia, 6 to 1. Marquard held the champions to three hits, while Alexander was hit hard.

The final games of the season between the four first division teams in the National will be played at Brooklyn and Philadelphia, New York and Brooklyn will meet in a four-game series to-day, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, while Boston and Philadelphia are battling in six games in the same four days. Double-headers are scheduled for to-day and Tuesday in Philadelphia. Upon these games the pennant depends.

MISS SEARS DEFEATS NATIONAL CHAMPION

Boston, Oct. 2.—Miss Molla Bjurstedt, National Women's Lawn Tennis champion, was a double loser in the annual tournament of the Longwood Cricket Club Saturday.

After being defeated by Miss Evelyn S. Sears, of Boston, in the challenge match of the singles, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, Miss Bjurstedt, paired with Harry C. Johnson, of this city, in the mixed doubles, lost to Miss Eleanora Sears, of Boston, and R. Norris Williams, II., the national champion, 8-6, 2-6, 6-4.

Miss Eleanora Sears played a brilliant game in the mixed doubles and bore the brunt of the attack throughout.

SWEDISH FOOTBALL CLUB UNDER BAN

King Gustaf of Sweden Shows His Displeasure at Rowdy Conduct

New York, Oct. 2.—Royal displeasure and the ban of King Gustaf V. of Sweden on the dedication ceremonies at Goteborg were the net result to the Goteborg Football Club for permitting a crowd to mob the American soccer team in the fourth of the international matches on August 27. Thomas W. Cahill, secretary of the United States Football Association, who returned with 13 members of the team on board the steamship Oscar II., made known this fact after landing.

King Gustaf, who witnessed the opening game of the series at Stockholm, and also attended one of the two exhibition games of baseball, was so wrought up over the incident that he forbade his youngest son, Prince Wilhelm, honorary president of the Swedish Olympic Lawn Tennis Association, to attend the dedication of the new athletic grounds at Goteborg.

The Americans, however, were not the first to be treated thus at Goteborg, for the Manchester team and the Rangers from Scotland had similar experiences.

While in Sweden and Norway the Americans contested six soccer matches and two baseball games. At soccer they made a record of three games won, one lost and two drawn. At baseball they won both times.

HEROES OF VERDUN PLAY SOCCER GAME

Paris, Oct. 2.—Fresh from the battlefield, eleven men of the famous 20th Army Corps, which distinguished itself particularly in the defence of Verdun, played a game of football yesterday with the team of the Association Sportive Francaise. The 20th Corps includes what is called the "iron" division," composed largely of Parisians. Among them are several football stars. The soldiers, while unable to score, held their well-trained adversaries to a single point.

FRIENDLY SOCCER.

The Victoria C. C. defeated the Civil Service eleven in a decisive manner in a friendly game of cricket played on the Beacon Hill grounds on Saturday afternoon. The winners piled up the overwhelming total of 207, while the losers were able to make only 56 runs. A. Booth and E. Verrall were the best of the Victoria batsmen, making 59 and 50 respectively. S. Barclay was high man for the Civil Service with 18. Sutton, bowling for Victoria was in fine form, taking six wickets for 24 runs and performing the hat trick.

Great Players Have Not Always Been Best in the Big Fall Classic

Who will be the hero of the 1916 world's series? Will it be some batting star like Zack Wheat, Jake Daubert, Duffy Lewis, or some pitching prince like Jeff Pfeffer, Jack Coombs, Dutch Leonard or Ernie Shore? Or will it be some lesser light like Ivan Olson, Otto Miller, Everett Scott or Hal Janvrin who will carry away the hero's crown?

There is nothing so uncertain as to forecast how players will act when they get into the big blue ribbon event. And you can't tell how the same player will act in a succeeding series. Jack Murray was the goat in the 1911 series, when he failed to strike a blow. In 1912 he was, next to Herzog, McGraw's most consistent clubber and one of the heroes of a lost cause.

Herzog did not hit much in 1911, but he bumped the Red Sox pitchers for an average of .400 in the 1912 series. In 1913 Charley again was a big disappointment and made only one hit in the five games with the Athletics, Artie Fletcher was a sieve at shortstop in 1912, but played great ball against the Athletics the following year.

Christy Mathewson, Frank Baker and Eddie Plank are about the only players who starred consistently through the numerous series in which they participated, though Baker's batting average fell to .250 in the 1914 series between the Athletics and Braves. Chief Bender, Eddie Collins, Jack Barry and Rube Oldring all spoiled their great world's series records in that Brave series, while most of the old Cubs suffered when they were crushed by the Athletics in 1910. Johnny Evers, a hero in later series, hit only .150 against the White Sox in 1906.

While it is true that frequently great stars have fallen flat in world's series, there is a false impression that this is the rule rather than the exception. There seems to be an erroneous idea that it is the regular thing for some obscure player to reach the loftiest heights of world's series fame, while stars look on with envy.

World's series history will hardly bear out such a contention. Only in two cases have obscure players carried of the leading honors. In 1906 George Rohe, a rather weak hitting White Sox substitute infielder, licked the Cubs with a flock of triples, and in 1914 Hank Gowdy of the Braves, a batter who has averaged around .235 in his big league career, hit everything the Athletic pitchers could serve up. Babe Adams, the Pirate pitcher of 1909, might be included, but Babe later proved he was a real pitcher.

Ty Cobb fell down harder in world's series warfare than any great star who ever participated in the big games. In only one of Tyrus's three series did he maintain anything like his American League batting form. That was in 1908, when he hit .362. In 1907 he hit only a bare .200, and in 1909 but .281. It has always been Ty's ambition to get in another series, as he feels he could wipe out his past failures if given another opportunity.

Hans Wagner disappointed his friends in 1903, but went strong against the Tigers in 1909. While Speaker's work was good in both 1912 and 1915 he was eclipsed by Hooper in the Giant series, and by both Hooper and Lewis in the Philly series last fall.

Starting in 1903, the year of the first clash between the pennant winners of the National and American leagues, the first modern world's series hero was Bill Dineen, now umpiring in the American League. Bill was the leading reason for the Red Sox victory over the Pirates that year, as he pitched three of the five Boston successes. Dineen lost one game that fall, and two of his victories were 3 to 0 shutouts. Bill put Pittsburg out of the running in the eighth game, when he won by the above score. The series that year was to be a nine game affair, and Boston won, five games to three.

BANCROFT INJURED

Phillies Begin Crucial Series With Boston Without the Services of Star.

Philadelphia, Oct. 2.—The Philadelphia National League baseball team will open its crucial six-game series with Boston to-day minus the services of David Bancroft, star shortstop, who was injured in Saturday's game with Brooklyn, but the specialist who examined his injured leg yesterday says that he will be about to play on Tuesday or Wednesday. Bancroft's hip was dislocated, but it was quickly slipped back into place. Stock, the regular third baseman, will take Bancroft's place at short and Byrne, a dependable infielder, will play third in the double-header to-morrow.

What General Brusiloff Thinks About the War

Great Soldier Interviewed by London Newspaperman.

When I arrived on the southern front I had the honor of being received by the illustrious chief whose memorable victory in the month of June annihilated an army of 450,000 Austrians.

That decisive event, the consequences of which still continue to develop progressively, was a demonstration of the indomitable power of Russia, and undoubtedly brought about the participation of Roumania in the war of liberation undertaken by the quadruple entente.

General Brusiloff's characteristic features have been made familiar to the whole world by the publication of innumerable photographs and pictures, and I need not try to describe them. I content myself with noting an impression, fugitive perhaps, but very acute at the moment. In demeanor and silhouette General Brusiloff's face recalls to my memory the features of the late Lord Roberts when he was still at the apex of his activity.

Roumania's Strength.

General Brusiloff, looking at me with his sparkling and scrutinizing eyes, said: "It goes without saying that I felt deep joy when I heard that Roumania had declared war on Austria. My left flank, now resting on the Roumanian army, with which it has virtually brought itself into contact, is now undoubtedly secure.

"The Roumanian army is a force with which one must reckon. It is under good leadership, an excellent spirit animates it, and it is submitted to a remarkable discipline. Its body of officers is well-instructed, serious, and competent.

"Above all, the Roumanian army has a magnificent artillery, which it uses with perfect skill. During the past two years Roumania has had plenty of time to accumulate great quantities of ammunition, and that is a capital point, because artillery plays in modern war a role not only enormous but preponderating, and it would be vain for any nation without the help of powerful artillery to expect great military success.

Austria Doomed.

"If you consider, moreover, that Roumania in taking part in the war closes automatically her boundaries to the German and Austrian buyers who formerly found on her territory huge qualities of corn and maize, you will admit that the armed intervention of Roumania, who proudly enters the lists, is an event of the first order.

To my mind the Austro-Hungarian empire, assailed from all sides, will not be able to stand much longer before the hordes of enemies who are hurling themselves against her, and are only preparing to increase the vigor of their blows.

"The hostile army which I had in front of me in June and July is almost entirely exterminated or captured, but it has been speedily replaced by a conglomerate army, in which are to be found enemies of every origin.

"It is composed, in the first place, of the very last soldiers which Austria and Hungary can still put in the line, and of which some have been hurriedly drawn from the Italian front, then of a number of Germans brought from our northern front and from the western front, and, finally, of some Turks.

"That army, more numerous just now than the one which stood in front of me in June, is indeed the supreme guard, the last living rampart of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy. That army resists desperately on its strong mountain positions, which must be carried one after the other by storm. We are advancing step by step; nevertheless, we are advancing, and the spirit of our army remains very bright and very high. Soon the co-operation of the brave Roumanian army will facilitate for us the obtaining of definite results.

"I follow with the greatest attention the admirable offensive efforts carried into effect on the western front by the Anglo-French armies. I fully realize the huge difficulties which you have to overcome. I understand the enormous obstacles you have to overthrow, but I am, nevertheless, fully convinced that your efforts will result in the rupture of the German front. It is for me an absolute certainty.

"The offensive assumed by the Franco-British armies helps us here in that it prevents the Germans from sending against us too heavy reinforcements. They are, all the same, drawing a certain amount of troops from the west and sending them against us, but not to such an extent that they can have a determining influence. The may simply delay our moving forward, and that is all.

Britain's Genius.

"By the way, I should add that Great Britain, in creating in two years a huge army of four million men, has accomplished a marvel which most military men before this war would have thought absolutely impossible. It is a great credit to her patriotism, her sense of organization, and to the inborn discipline of her population.

"Now the closer connection between the allies the more their movement will be co-operative, and the sooner also the war will be brought to an end. It is absolutely indispensable that all the allied armies should fight at the same time and without interruption. Such simultaneous and continuous action is calculated to bring about conditions leading to a rapid success.

"The Game is Won."

"The present war is one in which it is impossible for us to lose, and, although a vast deal remains to be accomplished, a successful result is already in our hands.

"The game is already won. I said so two years ago, and I did not change my mind one year ago, when the dearth of munitions obliged us to undergo great trials.

"We must consider the present war as being, from the allies' point of view, comparable to a lottery in which every number has to win, only we must go on till the end, and not have the weakness to think about a premature peace.

"Now you will ask me when, in my opinion, it may be supposed that the true peace will be signed—a peace which the allies will be able to accept with the joy of an entirely fulfilled task.

"I am no prophet. The future is in the hands of God. But if I had absolutely to make a hypothesis, I should be inclined to think that the month of August, 1917, might see the end of our memorable work."

So spoke General Brusiloff, in an interview which he granted me exclusively on behalf of The Daily Chronicle.

MRS. MAY'S LETTER to WOMEN

More Proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieves Suffering.

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered from a bad case of female ills. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended and I took about six bottles. It fixed me up all right. The common symptoms of such a condition—pain when walking, irritation, bearing down pains and backache, nervousness and disordered digestion—soon passed away. I look much better now than I did before, and I recommend the Compound every time for female troubles, as it did for me all it is claimed to do. You have my permission to publish this letter." Mrs. J. May, 3548 S. Lincoln St., Chicago, Ill.

If you have any of the symptoms mentioned in Mrs. May's letter, remember what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for her, and try it yourself. It is a good old-fashioned medicine, made from roots and herbs, and it has helped countless numbers of women.

CRISCO

For Frying—For Shortening—For Cake Making

There is unusual daintiness about all foods fried in Crisco.

Eggs fried in Crisco are as delicate as if they were poached.

Doughnuts are exceptionally tasty and free from all greasiness.

Crisco gives up its heat so quickly that a rich brown crust forms immediately, keeping the fat out and the flavor in.

Crisco is so sweet and pure, having neither odor nor taste, that over a million housewives depend upon it wherever a cooking fat is required.

Ask YOUR grocer to send Crisco and learn how it is possible to add to the tastiness of the simplest foods.

MODERATOR PREACHES AT ST. ANDREW'S

Rev. Dr. Baird, of Winnipeg, Addresses Congregation Yesterday

Dr. Baird, moderator of the General Assembly, acting principal of Manitoba College, preached the sermons both morning and evening at the St. Andrew's Presbyterian church yesterday in connection with the jubilee anniversary celebration. In the morning his text was: "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength and mount up to the eagles." Dr. Baird endeavored to show that a Christian congregation would find the source of perennial renewal in the spiritual fountain within. Outward forces should not be depended upon for life, energy, the motive power of life.

In the evening the moderator addressed a second very large congregation on "The Power of Faith." All things, he urged, were possible to him that believed. This principal Dr. Baird illustrated freely by historical and other references, showing how man had accomplished great and seemingly impossible things by the vastness of their faith. The unification of Italy itself, he pointed out, had been almost entirely due to the great faith of Mazzini.

The choir closed the evening service with the Hallelujah Chorus, and in the morning they sang as an anthem "The Glory of the Lord."

The celebration is to conclude tomorrow evening with a congregational gathering under the auspices of the ladies of the church. The first part of the meeting will be in the main auditorium of the church. Later the affair will resolve itself into a purely social gathering in the schoolroom, where the ladies will serve refreshments.

HARVEST FESTIVAL

Principal Vance, of Vancouver, Preaches at St. John's Church.

Harvest festival services were held yesterday at St. John's church, Rev. Principal Vance, of Vancouver, preaching both morning and evening, and the choir furnishing special music. At the 11 o'clock services Principal Vance took his text from St. John 12, v. 24: "Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die it abideth alone; but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit." The preacher applied the principle expounded in the text to various phases of life. The higher form of life, he maintained, were attained through sacrifice.

In the evening the text was from Isaiah 27, v. 12: "And ye shall be gathered one by one, O ye children of Israel." In his amplification of this, Principal Vance pointed out how great was the love of God for each individual man. In his turn man had an individual responsibility. The real progress of the world turned on personal effort. In war it was not the regiment that won battles, but the individual within the regiment. In the church, too, it was the part of each individual Christian to recognize his responsibilities, to realize that the Lord chose his workers one by one.

The harvest festival services are to be repeated on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, when the preacher will be Rev. Septimus Ryall, of Chemainus. As this meeting will take place the day before the synod meets for the election of a new bishop, it is anticipated that many of the clergy will be present.

The music which was given yesterday, including the beautiful anthem, "The Lord is My Strength and My Shield" (by Booth), and the magnificat and nunc dimittis by Marks, will be repeated. The church is beautifully decorated with flowers, fruit and grain.

SIX MONTHS FOR HOUSE PILFERER

Typical Case of Vacant Building Looter Occupies Attention of Court

A sharp punishment was meted out to-day to Lum, alias Ah Sing, one of the empty house thieves, whose depredations have caused so much loss to property holders whose premises are to rent.

The accused was brought before Magistrate Jay for being in possession of stolen property. He took a quantity of lead bars and later copper sheathing to a second-hand store to realize a little money upon it.

The storekeeper suspected the copper particularly, as it looked as if it had just been cut from the plumbing fixtures of a house, and so informed the police. The upshot was that Lum was arrested.

In court accused stoutly maintained that the copper came from a house in the country, where he had picked it up, and disowned the lead.

Chief Langley, who prosecuted, asked for a sharp penalty, the man having been previously convicted of stealing a bicycle which he had taken to pieces and altered beyond recognition. The habit of the house stealers was to take the lead and similar material and melt it down before sale. This had occurred with the bars produced.

The chief pointed out that the damage done by these pilferers represented thousands of dollars each year, and attention to the subject was urged on the police.

Magistrate Jay sent the man down for six months' imprisonment.

PROGRESSIVE PLANS

Gordon Head Athletic Club Makes Elaborate Programme for Winter Work.

The Gordon Head Athletic Club at an adjourned meeting held last Saturday evening decided on several progressive steps which should make the organization quite an influence in the community. It was decided to resolve the club into a number of divisions, the heads of each of which would automatically become a member of the executive, before which body would be placed all the plans for the work of the respective divisions. The divisions agreed upon were as follows: Music, under the direction of George F. Watson; debating, under George Somers; athletics, under W. Tucker; dancing, G. A. Pearson, and junior department under the supervision of Mrs. Aitkins. Arrangements were also made for a walking section, with the idea that the young people would get a better knowledge than they now have of the by-paths and hidden beauties of the district.

An important decision was found in the making of arrangements for the transportation of the young people who would care to avail themselves of the night classes which are being opened this week under the direction of the Victoria school board. Another interesting announcement was that through the courtesy of Mr. Williamson a branch of the provincial traveling library would be established at Ferguson's store, for the use of the Gordon Head residents. The meeting also took up a discussion of the plans for a gymnasium and the providing of the necessary equipment, etc.

INTERESTING TO KNOW WHY CREDIT IS GIVEN

County Court Judge Suggests This Instead of Calling Debtors

It is often a wonder why credit is given to some people. It is especially a wonder to those why pay their debts but who, on rare occasions, find themselves compelled to ask for credit and discover that even in stores where they have been dealing for years as cash customers there is hesitation or refusal to convenience them.

A monthly proceeding in the county court is the calling up of judgment debtors to explain to the court and to the solicitor for their creditors the reason for their failure to comply with a court order to pay the amount of a judgment obtained against them for a debt. It is rarely, however, that an order can be made for the payment of the debt in instalments, as the debtors generally make out a case for themselves under oath, in which lack of employment, sickness of wife or children and other financial responsibilities figure.

"It might be interesting if, instead of bringing the debtors here, we had the creditors called in to tell why they gave credit," observed Judge Lampman to-day, after listening to the hackneyed story for half a dozen times in succession. "Every month we have a stream of people coming here swearing that they are out of work, or their families are sick or something else. Why merchants give people of that sort credit passes my comprehension. They seem to fall over themselves to sell goods to people and let the account run on and then, maybe a year and a half afterwards, bring them in here to try to recover. It is always the same old story with the debtor: out of work, family sick, wife ill. It seems to me that if counsel for the plaintiffs examined the merchants instead of the debtors, and found out from them why they gave credit at all and what they ascertained as to the ability of the people to pay—if they found anything out in that direction—their clients would be ashamed of themselves. It is, as a rule, throwing good money after bad to carry on these judgment proceedings month after month."

In one of the cases up to-day the plaintiff firm was a leading furniture house, which in April sued and obtained judgment against Fred L. Larkin for the furniture supplied to the Olympus Cafe. Larkin claimed to-day that he was not responsible; that his brother-in-law, L. J. Quagliotti, was the owner of the place at the time the furniture was purchased, and he himself but an employee; that he did not understand the proceedings under which judgment was obtained against him; and that anyway he could not pay a cent on the debt.

His honor remarked that he was not going to let debtors come into court and say they did not owe money when they had had an opportunity to contest the claim and did not do so.

No order was made in the case, however, as it was apparent that nothing could be recovered from Larkin at the present time.

Convicted of Having Liquor in Their Possession.

At this season of the year the return of the numerous Indians who go hop picking in the Fraser Valley and across the line, always brings a considerable quantity of extra work for the police. Unscrupulous whites and Chinese take advantage of the love of the aborigine for whisky and other spirits, to peddle liquor to them surreptitiously while they are waiting round for their steamers.

Two Indians were before the court to-day, following the bootlegging case on Saturday, and were each fined $25 for being in possession of liquor. They had both obtained it from Chinese, so it was stated.

The police nearly always find the liquor stored in the aborigine's clothing, as the Indian fully understand the chances they run by having it, and in the cases to-day a similar course of concealment had been followed.

CAUGHT IN RAID

Six More Chinese in Toils; All Are Fined in Police Court To-day.

The third opium raid in Chinatown will make the city somewhat richer, for in spite of the heavier fines imposed on the two recent occasions, the police were able to catch half a dozen men in a joint above 536 Cormorant street on Saturday night. One man appears to have escaped.

The raid was carried out by Inspector Heatley, Sergt. Fry and Constables Palmer and Gates. The men found in the premises made little resistance, but as usual scattered when the police came in.

Their excuses in the witness stand were, as is the custom of the race, as plausible and unexpected as could be desired. They appeared like moths who knew the danger of the opium lamp, but insisted on remaining till escape was cut off.

After all the explanations had been heard, the magistrate imposed a fine of $20 and $1 costs in each case.

The victor of the Columbia riding, J. A. Buckham, M. P. P.-elect, arrived in the city yesterday on his first visit since the election. He was heartily welcomed by some old friends, and new ones who wished to learn something of the successful assault on the district of which Golden, where Mr. Buckham resides, is the chief town. Mr. Buckham, who was at a previous election an unsuccessful candidate, is a druggist in Golden and is well known throughout the district. Formerly he was in a similar line of business at Revelstoke. Born in Ontario, he qualified for his profession at the Ontario College of Pharmacy and Toronto University, and has been president of the B. C. Pharmaceutical Association.

Manager of Dominion Theatre Receives Message From Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne.

Manager Robertson, of the Dominion theatre, has received a message, dated New York, from Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Payne, who will be seen in the Metro feature, "A Man and His Soul," during the first three days this week. The telegram follows: "Greetings from across the boarder land of romance. We envy our shadow selves that they are enjoying the pleasure of your company. May we always be your reel friends."

The teacher had been reading to the class about the great forests of America. "And now, boys," she announced, "which one of you can tell me the pine that has the longest and sharpest needles?" Up went a hand in the front row. "Well, Tommy?" "The porcupine."

SAYS HUGHES'S PLACE NOT AT THE FRONT

London Daily Mail States Canadians Need Not Fear Appointment

London, Oct. 2.—The Daily Mail, in a leading editorial, says:

"The Canadian press, reflecting the views of Canadian soldiers who have endured actual warfare in France, is anxious lest, in gratitude for his zeal in raising men, Maj.-Gen. Sir Sam Hughes should be given a command at the front.

"Early in the war certain political soldiers received commands unwisely, but as the sanguinary nature of the struggle developed, it became obvious that the front is no place for politicians, however eloquent, active or astute. The Canadian press and the Canadian soldiers, therefore, need have no anxiety. It is understood Sir Sam quite appreciates the changed situation and is not seeking active service.

"We are glad to record the fact, for we agree with our Canadian contemporaries that political appointments might bring about disaster of the first magnitude to the Canadian army. Sir Sam is doing good work here in keeping the Dominion in the limelight, and we are glad to have him among us."

EIGHT WERE KILLED IN CRASH IN DETROIT

Detroit, Oct. 2.—Not one of the eight persons killed in the crash of a Grand Trunk freight train and a trolley car on the east side last midnight had been identified early to-day.

The bodies were so mutilated that identification was impossible. Of the 53 persons injured, many of whom were taken to hospitals, several are so seriously hurt that their recovery is doubtful.

A switch engine, with three freight cars ahead, was southbound and a trolley car was going west on Forest avenue toward the centre of the city, when the crash occurred.

CONSTANTINE WILL TELEGRAPH PLANS

Expected to Notify Britain, France and Russia; New Cabinet

Athens, Sept. 29.—(Delayed by censor.)—Those close to the king are confident he will telegraph his decision concerning the war to King George, Emperor Nicholas and President Poincare on Monday.

Once the king's decision has been reached, it is expected, a national cabinet will be formed, in consultation with the British minister. M. Venizelos probably will have a portfolio if he desires. It is predicted that M. Kalogeropoulos will remain premier and minister of finance, with M. Strattos as war minister; M. Carapanos, the present foreign minister, and M. Coromilas, Greek minitser at Rome, as head of the department of foreign affairs, with three supporters of M. Venizelos in the cabinet.

General Moschopoulos, chief of the general staff, asked King Constantine this noon to grant him leave of absence for 45 days. The king assented. Gen. Gennadis probably will replace Gen. Moschopoulos.

A. CRAIB, VANCOUVER, GUILTY OF ARSON

Vancouver, Oct. 2.—With his boyish young face convulsively twitching as he stood in the prisoner's dock facing the judge, Abe Craib, the young southern "firebug" who set fire to the Pacific-Alberta Grain Elevator, Marfew Hall and a host of other buildings, this forenoon pleaded guilty before Mr. Justice Gregory in the assizes. He is to be brought up for sentence later, the judge having expressed a willingness to hear the evidence of the lad's mother and sister either in court or in his private chambers before passing sentence.

FORD SAYS HE WANTS MR. WILSON RE-ELECTED

Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 2.—Henry Ford, automobile manufacturer and peace advocate, reiterated to President Wilson at a conference at Shadow Lawn to-day that he was supporting him for re-election although a Republican in the past. Mr. Ford spent several hours with President Wilson and took luncheon with him.

ANOTHER GERMAN "REPULSE."

Berlin, Oct. 2.—On a battlefront of 12 miles north of the Somme, French and British troops charged the German forces time after time yesterday. They were repulsed, the war office announces, and suffered heavy losses.

BRITISH CAPTURED MOVIE SUBMARINE

Seized Craft Near Bahamas While on Way to Miami, Fla.

New York, Oct. 2.—A wireless message from H. H. Vanloan, a passenger bound here from Nassau on the steamship Monterey, declares that British warships patrolling in the vicinity of the Bahama Islands have seized a "submarine" owned by a moving picture company while on its way from New York to Miami, Fla., under the belief that it was a German craft. The submarine was captured last Tuesday.

Those in command of the submarine, the message says, were compelled to return to Nassau, where the British officials warned Vanloan, who was in charge of the expedition, not to move her without permission. The American consul, according to the wireless message, identified Vanloan and he was permitted to leave on the Monterey, which is due here to-day.

The message states that the American consul is taking the matter up with the state department at Washington to obtain the release of the property submarine.

SPUR TO GREATER EFFORT, SAYS HUGHES

Canadian Victory at Courcelette, Near Somme, Incentive to Do More

Montreal, Oct. 2.—"Germany has suffered a black week, and German psychology takes unkindly to a form of doctrine so different from the tonic effect of a daily victory," said Maj.-Gen. Sir Sam Hughes in a long interview given to the London Weekly Dispatch and cabled here by the Gazette's correspondent in London.

"Canadians regard it as a great privilege," Sir Sam said, "to have been permitted to play an honorable part in the unparalleled struggle on the Somme front. With memories of Hooge and Ypres, the Canadians may unite happier recollections of the Somme, because now they are fighting no longer under the disadvantage of being against superior numbers and an overwhelming ascendancy of guns and munitions. They have had the gratification of seeing the Germans driven from their most formidable positions. Our victory on the Somme front is a spur to greater effort and an encouragement to greater sacrifice."

The time of the minister of militia was spent mostly, the Gazette's correspondent says, on the reorganization of the general arrangements for the Canadian forces overseas, in which connection an announcement of promotions and changes probably will be made shortly. The new military council here will start its duties this week on the recommendations for promotions. One step taken is the bringing together of all Canadian officers at the headquarters in St. James Square, as far as possible.

ROUMANIANS WILL STOP RAIDS ON BUCHAREST

London, Oct. 2.—"In their latest raid on Bucharest," says the correspondent of the Times at Bucharest, "German aeroplanes dropped proclamations declaring that the city will be laid in ruins soon unless Roumania hastens to make a separate peace.

"In view of the probable continuance of the raids, the government authorities are reported to be planning to bring numbers of foreigners who are detained in concentration camps in the country adjacent to Bucharest, where they will be lodged in places most exposed to attack."

RUSSIA'S POPULATION INCREASING RAPIDLY

Petrograd, Oct. 2.—According to statistics just completed, the population of Russia has increased more than 53,000,000, or 42 per cent., since 1897. It has increased more than 3,800,000, or more than 2 per cent., since 1914. The total population is set down as 182,182,060.

VANCOUVER TO STATES.

Vancouver, Oct. 2.—Rev. H. F. Warring, pastor of the Kitsilano Baptist church, has resigned to accept a call in the United States.

TURKS MASSACRING GREEKS, IT IS SAID, NOW IN ASIA MINOR

Rome, Oct. 2.—It is stated in Greek diplomatic circles that the Turks have begun to massacre Greeks in Asia Minor in view of the probable intervention of Greece in the war on the side of the entente powers. The commander of the Turkish troops in Armenia issued a proclamation declaring that the Turks would reduce Constantinople to a heap of ruins before they would allow Greek forces to enter the city. He expects the Turk to rely entirely on their own resources, as the central empire will be unable to help them.

MILITARY CROSS TO A. D. BELL-IRVING

Vancouver, Oct. 2.—News of new honors, the pleasure of which will be shared by all Vancouver people, is contained in a cable dispatch received by Henry Bell-Irving to the effect that his son, Lieut. A. D. Bell-Irving, has been awarded the Military Cross, one of the most coveted decorations in the British army.

The award has been made in recognition of his prowess and pluck in defeating and bringing to earth two German aeroplanes and one observation balloon, all in the short space of four weeks while operating over the Somme front. Lieut. Bell-Irving left Vancouver in August, 1914, as an officer in the Seaforth Highlanders, but later was posted to the Gordon Highlanders (Imperial Army) and later still to the Royal Flying Corps.

The award of this new honor brings the Bell-Irving family into empire-wide prominence for its service in the present conflict, for this makes the third Military Cross to be awarded to members of the family in addition to the insignia of the Distinguished Service Order which, as well as the Military Cross, is worn by Captain Malcolm Bell-Irving, R.F.C. The latter officer sustained a bullet wound in the head and now is convalescing. All being well, he hopes to be in Canada on leave before Christmas.

News of another achievement also is to hand to the effect that Captain Richard Bell-Irving has taken premier position in his examinations with many other officers in aerial machine gunnery. He is engaged on the staff of the Royal flying Corps as aerial machine gunnery instructor, but hopes at the end of the present course to leave his pupils and rejoin his squadron.

CANADA ENJOYING INCREASED TRADE

Growth of Revenue Indicated by Statement Issued by Minister of Customs

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—Canada's revenue this year is better than the revenue of last year by more than 50 per cent. A statement issued under the direction of Hon. J. D. Reid, minister of customs, gives the revenue for the first six months of the fiscal year, that is to the end of September, as $770,564,547.46.

The increase as compared with the revenue for the corresponding period last year is being well maintained, the customs revenue for September having amounted to $12,110,181.93, as compared with $8,029,665.17, an increase of $4,080,516.76, or slightly more than 50 per cent.

CLAYTON F. PETERSON ON TRIAL AT REGINA

Regina, Oct. 2.—Clayton F. Peterson, of Regina and Guelph, Ont., is on trial in supreme court to-day on a charge of perjury resulting from evidence he gave before the Sutherland Committee of the legislature on the matter of the 1913 bribery proceedings. On that occasion he swore he had not got a cheque for $4,000 from Frank Brunner in December, 1913, and that he had not got a cheque for $5,000 from Brunner and that he had not been at the Broad street branch of the Bank of Ottawa when $5,000 was obtained from the account of the Licensed Victuallers' Association in that month.

Brunner was the first witness, and told again the circumstances under which he had given Peterson a cheque for $4,000 and later a cheque for $5,000. In regard to the latter he related how he and Peterson had gone to the Bank of Ottawa and arranged with E. L. H. Smith, manager, for an overdraft of $5,000, giving a guarantee for it signed by Peterson, Brunner, Barry and Wilson. Later, in consequence of a telephone conversation with Pierce, he had gone to the bank with a cheque for $5,000 and had given it to Peterson, waiting there with him until the money was obtained.

TWO BREMENS WERE TAKEN BY BRITISH

Galveston, Texas, Oct. 2.—French and British warships have captured two German merchant submarines, both named the Bremen, according to Captain Van Schoonbeck, of the Belgian steamship Vanbelgie, which arrived here to-day.

LOST A ZEPPELIN TO KILL ONE MAN

One Man Was Injured, British Authorities Announce; Damage Insignificant

London, Oct. 2.—"Police reports show that the total casualties in the zeppelin raid last night were one man killed and one man injured," says an official announcement made public this afternoon.

The material damage was insignificant, although the raiders covered a wide area and dropped a number of bombs. Four houses were seriously damaged. Some glass houses were demolished and a number of windows were broken.

Advices from the suburbs of London give graphic accounts of the manner in which the fourth zeppelin to be brought down on English soil fell a victim to anti-aircraft defences.

The zeppelin began to descend slowly and dropped slowly, the blaze from it lighting up the countryside for many miles like day.

AUTUMN FELT BY TROOPS NEAR SOMME

Germans Making Greatest Effort in Thiepval Region, Writes Correspondent

With the British Army North of the Somme, Sept. 30, via London, Oct. 2.—(By Philip Gibbs).—This last day of September, a month of tremendous fighting, is waning in a golden haze. There already is a touch of autumn in the air and in the color of things. Where the trees are not stirred and stripped of their foliage by shrapnel and lyddite they are yellowing, and the brown leaves are blown into the trenches. But there are no trees in the trenches, and no trees at Thiepval, and hardly a stump of a tree on the plateau to the northward and eastward, where there is a barren stretch of ground broken only by the hummocky lines of trenches and innumerable shell craters as desolate as any place on earth. It is here, beyond Thiepval, that the slaughter of men is the greatest. It is here that the Germans are sacrificing many more lives in the hope of driving the British back.

From an underground fortress and the surrounding redoubts, desperate German counter-attacks were made last night and this morning on the Schwaben redoubt, just north of Thiepval, and on the Hessian redoubt, farther east, where the German trenches hold out in a wedge made by a sunken road from Gueudecourt.

Heavy Gunfire.

I have not often heard such menace in the sound of gunfire as when I went to an artillery observation post in this direction this morning. There was something in the atmosphere as well as the intensity of the bombardment which made the shell-bursts (they were German crumps) thunder out in a queer, hollow reverberating way. The Germans had concentrated their heavyweight metal on the British lines here, so recently their own, and I watched the explosives vomitting up from Thiepval ridge just below the Schwaben redoubt with great hope that the British troops holding out there might have found good cover in the old German dugouts, and that the advantage gained in capturing these strongholds of German industry after two years of trench warfare might be turned, after all, to British good and safety.

In Thiepval itself many underground chambers have been found, though when the British first won the place after all the hard hand-to-hand fighting with the garrison, they could not get cover at once.

Queer things have happened in this shell-crater land, as when a Canadian officer, bringing up rum rations for his men, found himself in a ditch with a number of German wounded. They were lying in a row in a tragic state. What was the officer to do? He was puzzled, but he decided to give the liquor to the suffering men, who were grateful for it.

MONTREAL STOCKS

(By F. A. Borden & Co.)

Montreal, Oct. 2.—The Montreal exchange did not open this forenoon until 11 o'clock, out of respect for Col. Buchanan, a member of the exchange, who was killed in action. Trading was active during both sessions and strength was general. Some stocks that have been inactive for some time became quite strong, such as MacDonald and Ames preferred. The latter gained over five points, closing at the top. Smelters was a strong feature. Their earnings are said to be very good, the prices they are receiving for their product having advanced considerably on account of the war. Cotton stocks and Dominion Textile are in good demand and more active than for some time. These companies have sold their output for some months in advance at high prices. The steel shares were irregular, with Steel of Canada up half a point, while Dominion Iron lost about one point on profit-taking sales.

TO-DAY'S TRADING ON THE WINNIPEG MARKET

Winnipeg, Oct. 2.—Wheat closed ¼ to ¾ cents higher, with October at 163¾ to ¾, November at 161¾, December at 156¾ and May at 158. Oats closed ½ to ¾ higher, with October 53½ to ¾, December at 51¾ and May at 53¾. Barley closed 1¾ higher, with October at 92. Flax closed 10½ to 12½ higher, with October at 222, November at 221½ and December at 222. Through the clearing houses 257,000 bushels were delivered. The first market of the new month was undoubtedly a strong one so far as futures were concerned. While there is a lot of bear sentiment and a decline was looked for, bad weather on the prairies, continued drought in Argentine and the Liverpool report that futures were being firmly held and offers limited, combined to swing the market round to the bull side once more. It certainly was not on the volume of export trade, for that was very dull and apparently confined to one house. It was rumored that some of the export houses were re-sellers at the advance. The real sensation of the day was the flax market. Apparently there must have been a bunch of shorts in the Duluth market and they certainly were caught.

NEWS DID NOT HAVE EFFECT AT NEW YORK

Stock Market More of a Two-Sided Affair Than Heretofore

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)

New York, Oct. 2.—There was little or nothing in the day's budget of news of a sort to affect stock market sentiment materially, though it apparently is beginning to be realized that the market now is much more of a two-sided affair than heretofore, and that as soon as outside buying shows signs of subsiding drastic fluctuations may be experienced in view of the tremendous amount of stock which has been distributed.

WHEAT MARKET CLOSED STRONG AT CHICAGO

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Wheat prices started about one-half cent higher on comparatively firm Liverpool cables. Broomhall reported anxiety regarding the reduction of supplies and stated that the building up of reserves in the United Kingdom is expected to bring difficulties. This is significant and shows the true foreign side of the market. Good buying developed as the session advanced and the day closed strong at an advance of from two to two and a quarter cents.

FRIEND OF SEAMEN WILL VISIT HERE

Rev. Dr. Hall, of Toronto, Returns to Coast After Long Interval

Rev. Dr. Alfred Hall, of Toronto, the senior chaplain for Canada to the Naval and Merchant Marine Institute, as well as a member of the Canadian National Council of the British and Foreign Sailors' Society, has reached Vancouver and will visit Victoria and Union Bay, which are two of the nine stations under his control throughout the Dominion. The object of his visit is to see how things are getting along and, incidentally, to stir up public sympathy in favor of the sailors of the navy and the mercantile marine. On the way to the coast he addressed no less than 4,000 children in one city, and the greatest interest was evinced in his talks which have brought home to the children what the navy is doing for the empire and what the sailors of the merchant marine ships are also doing.

"The whole story of the navy," said Dr. Hall in an interview at Vancouver, "is one of the greatest historical dramas of all times. What the navy and the men of the merchant marine have done for us will never be known, and it is on their behalf that I am here. In all the coast cities in Eastern Canada they have given the most loyal support and we have not the slightest doubt that Vancouver and Victoria will do equally well."

Conditions not only in the navy but also in the mercantile marine are totally different to-day to what they were some years ago, said Dr. Hall.

Dr. Hall is also well known as the distributor of the Nelson shields, of which about 2500 have been given to schools and universities in the Dominion.

He expects to be in Vancouver for a week, and will then come to the Island. He intends to give public addresses and to talk to the children in the city schools. It is six years since Dr. Hall was on the coast.

TO DIVERT EAST ROAD AT YOUNG'S HILL

Difficulty Over Gap in Saanich Highway Paving Has Been Settled

The Saanich council having reached a satisfactory arrangement with the land owners, the paving of the new grade at Young's hill, between Keating and Saanichton, will be able to proceed, in fact grading has already begun.

The importance of this announcement is indicated by the fact that up to the present time the council was threatened with the necessity of leaving this section of the paving, and continuing further north with the intention of at anyrate reaching Saanichton this year. The original grade was such as to discourage any hope of laying a satisfactory paving on the road. When preparations for the East road work were taken in hand this year, the council immediately opened up negotiations with the landowners for the transfer of enough right-of-way in exchange for the old road in order not only to lower the grade but to cut off an angle. As the owners, except one, all agreed to give without expropriation proceedings, a claim for damages on behalf of the solitary man who stood out the fruition of the scheme. Now it is announced that a settlement has been reached and the road can be built as planned.

The announcement will be welcome to everyone who uses the East road to Sidney and way points, as it removes one of the most dangerous points on highways around Victoria, and will result in the paving on this section going forward co-incident with the remainder, so that there will be an unbroken paved route to Saanichton from the Victoria city hall.

The contractors are working well ahead of the break at Young's hill, and given a continuation of good weather there is no reason why the construction to Saanichton should not be finished at an early date. After the almost impassible condition of the East road in winter, being particularly bad last season after the blizzard, a change to a paved thoroughfare will be appreciated by the settlers, many of whom are among the pioneer farmers of the Saanich peninsula.

RUSSIA ALIVE TO TRADE EXPANSION

Investigator From Petrograd Passes Through on Important Mission

On an important mission, investigating the opportunities for Russian trade with the allied countries and with neutral nations, General Basile Derulssoff, who has been president of the chamber of commerce at Petrograd and a former member of the Upper House of the Duma, arrived on R. M. S. Monteagle yesterday, and left again for the Sound later.

In the course of a chat with the Times representative the general said: "I have visited many countries, and more recently have been making a thorough investigation of business conditions in India, Japan and China. While there I filled in any spare time available in preparing my report on the United States and Canada. I am now en route to New Orleans, on my way to South America, where I shall examine thoroughly into the openings for Russian trade after the war with the Latin American countries.

"We recognize there is a remarkable field for development of Russian commerce after the struggle ends, and that Russia will look to America for many imports which have hitherto been supplied by Russia's enemies in Europe.

"In Petrograd there is a great inclination for trade with the United States and Canada, and while the tremendous traffic of Vladivostok in the past eighteen months may be regarded as purely of a martial character, there is no reason why the business should cease, because many commodities will be wanted in the rebuilding of the nation.

"I am preparing a book dealing with the subject of Russia's international trade, which will be for the purpose of showing what other countries have to sell, questions of transportation, freight charges, and the opportunities for equalizing exports and imports.

"I am glad to notice, during my last visit, a growing inclination among men of business to trade with Russia from this coast, and if Canadian manufacturers are to share in that business they must be alive, and get in while the door is open. Otherwise the chance will be lost and will not come again."

The general thought better knowledge of the language among Anglo-Saxons and of the Russian people would do a great deal to clear away misconceptions.

He did not wish to discuss war matters, saying it was a year since he left Petrograd last, and things had greatly changed in the meantime. He had resigned his seat in the Duma in order to devote himself to the important mission of developing trade with the czar's empire.

"Shut the pigeon-cote door, quick." "But the birds would come back if they escaped, wouldn't they?" "They'd go back."

First Maid—"Does your mistress wear much jewellery?" Second Maid—"No, she has only rings under her eyes."

CHINDA'S SUCCESSOR EN ROUTE TO POST

Ambassador Sato Arrived on Yokohama Maru Yesterday

Succeeding Viscount Chinda, who has been appointed to the Court of St. James, Ambassador Oimaro Sato passed through yesterday on the Yokohama Maru, en route to Washington, D. C.

The ambassador, who has ranked among the cleverest diplomats at the Tokio foreign office, has an important work to do in harmonizing Japanese and American interests in the Far East, and in dealing with the delicate question of Japanese settlement on the Pacific slopes. Another very important matter for the ambassador is the development of amicable relations on trade questions in those countries when both Americans and Japanese are competitors.

Arrangements are in hand for a hearty welcome to his excellency on his arrival in Seattle, by the chamber of commerce on the Japanese Association of the Northwest.

The new ambassador is described as among the most thoroughly Americanized of Japanese statesmen, having attended college in Indiana, where he was graduated in 1881, following which he entered the foreign office of his government. Later he returned to America and took a post-graduate course at Du Pauw University, which in 1884 awarded him his master's degree. After serving in London, Paris, Berlin and in Mexico and Peru, he accompanied the Japanese peace commissioners for the settlement of the Russo-Japanese war and was present when the treaty of Portsmouth was signed, September 5, 1905. He later was ambassador to Austria-Hungary and also, at the same time, minister to Switzerland. He represented Japan at the second international peace congress held at The Hague, and again in 1910, and in 1911 was sent to The Hague as his country's representative. Of late he has been attached to the foreign office in Tokio.

FORTY DIVINITY STUDENTS IN KHAKI

Work of Year Reviewed at Closing Exercises at Westminster Hall

Scholarships were presented to four students of Westminster hall, divinity diplomas presented to two graduating students, and two clergymen of the Presbyterian Church in British Columbia were made Doctors of Divinity at the closing exercises of Westminster hall, which took place at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Vancouver. The principal, Rev. Dr. Mackay, in his address, stated that the college had successfully weathered a stormy year and drew applause when he said that 40 students had gone to the front or were en route. Kenneth McLennan, of Nanaimo, a graduate of the college, had made the supreme sacrifice. The valedictory was read by A. M. Grant, a divinity graduate and a third year scholarship winner. The final lecture of the Robertson Foundation course was given by Rev. Dr. Logan. It dealt with the early history of the Presbyterian church in this province.

The opening function of the programme was the presentation of James Sinclair Macdougall scholarships of $50 for the first prize and $25 for the second, to third and second year students—Messrs. D. A. Smith and A. M. Grant, third year, and Messrs. J. W. McGookin and H. Rae, second year. The presentations were made by Principal Mackay.

Impressive ceremony attached to the conferring of the degree of Doctor of Divinity on Rev. E. A. Henry, of Chalmers church, and Rev. H. R. Grant of Prince Rupert. The former was introduced by Rev. Dr. Logan, librarian at Westminster hall, and the latter by Rev. Captain Campbell, D. D., Victoria.

Following the presentation of graduating class diplomas to Messrs. D. A. Smith and A. M. Grant, the valedictory was read by Mr. Smith.

CHINESE TROUBLES

Two Governors in Kwangtung Where Peter Hing is Influential.

The steamer Monteagle, which arrived in port yesterday, brought word from Southern China that politically the country is still in a very disturbed condition. As one of the most influential of the politicians in Kwangtung province is Peter Hing, of Victoria, a man who was educated here and who is well known to many people in this city, the troubles of that district have a local interest.

In order to appease the people of Kwangtung, a new governor was recently appointed to that province by the new president, Li Huan Hung. Remembering the fate of the late chief of police at Canton, who was shot down while a guest of his predecessor, the new governor was afraid to enter the city of Canton to receive the seals of office. He accordingly sent a messenger asking that the seals be forwarded to him. This was refused, the governor stating that it was always customary to deliver the seals in person.

At the time when the Monteagle sailed there were two governors, one who has been in office for several years still holding the seals and doing the business of the province; the other afraid to demand the seals of office in person, but sulking in the provincial cities awaiting developments.

SHOWING PANTHER SKIN

Animal Which Attacked Two Children Last Week Will Be Exhibited.

The Esquimalt Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society has been able through the kindness of J. R. Green, a barrister of this city, to obtain for exhibition purposes the panther which attacked the two children at Cowichan Lake last week. The animal measures close upon seven feet from tip to tip, its size making it a matter for marvel that the two children, Doreen Ashburnham, aged 11, and Tony Farrer aged 8, ever escaped. The skin and skull were placed in the hands of F. Kermode, director of the provincial museum, and mounted for the "Made-in-Victoria" exhibition which is being held in the Hudson's Bay building this week.

Salesman (in music department)—What can I do for you, madam? Lady—"Sing Me to Sleep," please.—Canton Journal.

"Do the Germans ever leave anything valuable behind them in the trenches?" Veteran—"Never a drop, mum."
